MAN BATTERED BECAUSE HE TOOK UP TOO MUCH ROOM IN BED

Just because Edward J. Winton took up too much of the bed which he occupied with Joseph Vigne in a room at 4 Tyler street, the latter pounded Winton during the early hours of this morning and after Judge Enright heard the case in police court and saw the marks on Winton's face, Vigne was ordered to pay a fine of $25.

"How much time will you give me to pay the fine?" asked Vigne.
"I won't give you any time at all," responded the court.

BRITISH VICTORY IN NEW DRIVE SOUTH OF ANCRE RIVER

The towns of Beaumont-Hamel and Saint-Pierre Divion, near the Ancre river in France, were captured by the British in a powerful new thrust begun this morning. A press despatch from British headquarters in France says fighting is still in progress and that 2000 prisoners have been taken.

Offensive on Both Sides

The offensive was inaugurated on both sides of the Ancre and represented an extension of the fighting front from British headquarters in France to the northern end of the Somme region. Although there has been some fighting in the vicinity of Beaumont-Hamel in recent months the main engagements have taken place below the Ancre, Serre, for possession of which a battle is going on, is nearly four miles north of Thiepval, the northern end of the front where the battle of the Somme was fought during the summer.

The Ancre river approximately bounds on the south the sharp salient created in the German lines by the prolonged Franco-British offensive in the Somme region. Apparently Gen. Haig's troops are now attacking this salient from both sides.

ABDUCTORS REDUCTION WITHDRAW APPEAL

John Rouses, James Antoniou and Athanasios Chamomas, three of the four alleged abductors of Athenia Akratou, who were sentenced to one year in the house of correction at East Cambridge last Monday by Judge Enright, appeared in police court this morning and withdrew their appeals. John Contas, the chauffeur of the girl, is out on bail at the present time.

According to the testimony offered the girl left the Green school on the night of October 24th and as she turned from Colburn street into Moody street she was grabbed by the men and placed in the automobile and taken towards Nashua, N. H. On the way the machine broke down and all but Contas ran away, Contas returning to Lowell with the girl.

KILLS SON'S WIFE SHOOTS SON AND HIMSELF

DUDLEY, Mass., Nov. 13.—Frank E. Deon, town counsel and tax collector of Dudley, shot and killed his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Robert Deon, probably fatally wounded his son Robert Deon, and then attempted suicide today. Physicians said neither father nor son could live. Young Deon in a lucid moment told police officers that his father had been drinking.

CHALIFOUX'S ON THE SQUARE GLOVES

A smile is on the face of an owner of a pair of our gloves. No wonder he holds them up where they can be seen. Made of the finest grade of imported and domestic leathers, hand stitched, hand fitting. They are something to be proud of. Our gloves are aristocrats. They have a polished look. But they cost no more than the common kind.

SUIT AGAINST B. & M. FOR $20,000

The cases of Wilber C. and Carroll E. McIntyre of Burlington vs. Edmund and Eliza L. Leland of North Andover and Brookline were given to the jury in the fiscal session of superior court today. A mixed verdict will be opened tomorrow morning. One of the plaintiffs, Carroll, is alleged to have been bitten by a mad dog kept at the farm of the defendants. Carroll sues for personal injuries and the father to recover for expenses.

Boston & Maine Sued

The case of George H. Edmond, a Bedford newspaper correspondent for a Boston paper, vs. the Boston & Maine railroad, was opened this forenoon. After the evidence had been started counsel for the plaintiff requested that the case be continued until his law partner could appear. This was agreed to by Judge Keating and the case was withdrawn from the jury but will be tried later. The ad damnum is $20,000. The plaintiff claims that as he was leaving a train at the Bedford station on Feb. 19 last he slipped and fell on an icy walk, sustaining a fracture of the left knee cap. He was in bed for about two weeks. Kelly & Sheehan appeared for the plaintiff and Trull & Wier for the defense.

LOWELL BOY TO SKATE AT SCHENECTADY

Albert Nobes, the local roller skater, is in Schenectady, N. Y., for a series of races. He is in great condition and expects to annex a few more victories before returning here on Thursday. The rink is small, having 18 laps to the mile, but it has a fine floor. Nobes tried it out and feels right at home there. He is very confident, and expects to show the fans there a few new stunts, such as skating the corners at top speed, etc., before returning to the Spindle City. Tonight Nobes will appear in a three-mile race against two men: Tuesday night, three miles against two other men, and the last night to miles against the five best men available, each man to skate two miles with a flying start when they relay.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—A cold wave with temperatures at various places lower than ever before recorded in November, overpreads the state of Mississippi today and will move eastward to the Atlantic coast.

At Lander, Wyo., it was 23 degrees below zero and at Cheyenne, Wyo., 22 below zero.

The intense cold reaches southward into the interior of Texas. Weather bureau officials today said the cold wave, perhaps, would diminish in intensity as it moved eastward. Its movement and intensity was somewhat dependent upon the West Indian disturbance which was reported this morning in the Caribbean sea into the vicinity of Swan Island. That storm apparently was increasing in intensity and will move northward, probably accompanied by winds reaching gale force during the next 36 hours over the east portion of the Gulf of Mexico and South Florida. Rain and snow probably will precede the cold wave in the North Atlantic States, Great Lakes region, Ohio Valley, Tennessee, and Gulf states, Louisiana and the Atlantic states except South Florida on Tuesday. Cold wave warnings have been issued for Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky, Indiana and South-West Ohio.

This reduction is due partly to an increase in the amount of corporation

STRIKE IF RAILROADS FAIL TO LIVE UP TO 8 HOUR LAW

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Failure of the railroads of the country to live up to the spirit and intent of the Adamson eight-hour law will result in the strike vote of the four big railroad brotherhoods being put into effect, it was announced here today by William G. Lee, head of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen after a three-hour conference between brotherhood and railway representatives.

LOWELL CASES BEFORE ACCIDENT BOARD

The Industrial Accident board held an all day session in the aldermanic chamber at city hall today, having two hearings and holding a conference. The conference had to do with an injury sustained by Joseph Pinkas of Lakeview avenue in the Middlesex Mills on November 16, 1915, while removing a bolt from the die in a machine at the United States Cartridge Co., a piece of steel shot into Mr. Mooney's eye, impairing his eyesight and causing him much pain, it is said.

Both cases were taken under advisement.

SUPERIOR COURT RECESS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Chief Justice White today announced that the supreme court would recess for two weeks from Nov. 20 to Dec. 4, over the Thanksgiving holiday with opinions and orders next Monday.

PRES. WILSON AT DESK TAKES UP IMPORTANT FOREIGN PROBLEMS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—President Wilson was back at his desk in the White House today after an absence of two months, prepared to take up important foreign problems which have been held in abeyance pending the election, as well as domestic questions. These included the German submarine commission and to create machinery for preventing in the future a crisis similar to that which recently threatened to involve the country in a railroad strike and other railroad legislation suggested by him when the strike threatened.

The president has begun preparation of his next message to congress. He plans to urge that a number of these questions be taken up.

NO CLEARANCE PAPERS FOR DEUTSCHLAND

NEW LONDON, Conn., Nov. 13.—The approaching departure of the German submarine Deutschland for Germany was believed to be indicated by the taking on board today of large quantities of provisions, including a liberal supply of fresh meats. Local dealers are understood, however, to have other orders for delivery tomorrow. It is believed that it may be Wednesday before the big under-sea freighter turns her nose seaward. No clearance papers have been issued to Capt. Paul Koenig yet, it was stated this afternoon.

BRITISH RAID ON GERMAN NAVAL WORKS

SUFFRAGE LEADER ILL

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 13.—Slight improvement was reported today in the condition of Mrs. Inez Milholland Boissevain, New York suffrage leader who is gravely ill at a hospital here. She passed a fairly good night following the third transfusion of blood into her veins made Wednesday.

Henry Morgenthau, chairman of the finance committee of the democratic national committee, called on the president today.

After a brief stay in Washington the president may go away for a rest before Congress convenes. Hot Springs, Va., was mentioned as the place he might visit. He will make no definite plan, however, until he has got in thorough touch with officials here and learned whether the submarine and Mexican situations require his presence.

Secretary Lansing planned to confer with President Wilson today on submarine attacks on vessels carrying Americans and on the Mexican situation.

While officials admit that the submarine situation is filled with grave possibilities, no action will be taken until further reports have been received. It was said today that no evidence so far has been received by the state department proving that Germany's pledges have been violated.

Cabinet Possibilities

In case there are any changes in President Wilson's cabinet, it was understood today that among those who would be considered would be Harry A. Garfield, president of Williams College and a son of former President James A. Garfield; Samuel L. Seabury, the defeated democratic candidate for governor of New York, and James C. McCormick, chairman of the democratic national committee.

To Urge All to Remain

There have been many reports circulated regarding changes in the cabinet, but officials in close touch with the president declared today that it is almost certain that he will urge all the present members of the cabinet to remain at their posts and changes are not expected unless members themselves desire to quit the official family.

It is considered possible, however, that one or more members of the cabinet may resign for personal reasons. Secretary McAdoo has been frequently mentioned as one member likely to resign, and Representative Carter Glass of Virginia, chairman of the house banking and currency committee, has been suggested for his post. It was stated definitely today that Mr. McAdoo can remain in the president's cabinet as long as he desires and it was denied he has offered his resignation.

Secretary Redfield, Secretary Baker and Secretary Daniels have also been mentioned as members of the cabinet who might desire to quit public life but it was stated definitely today that none of them had signified any such intention.

See Tumulty to Stay

Secretary Tumulty also is expected to remain in his present post, although he could be appointed as a member of the board of general appraisers in New York if he desired. Reports have connected Mr. Tumulty's name with a cabinet position but it was stated authoritatively today that he will not become a cabinet officer.

In case there should be a vacancy on the supreme court Attorney General Gregory, Secretary Lane or Senator Walsh of Montana would be considered first for the appointment.

DECLARES ROWANMORE TRIED TO ESCAPE

BERLIN, Nov. 13, by wireless to the Associated Press via Sayville.—The report of the commander of the British steamer Rowanmore, on which there were several Americans, has been received by the admiralty and indicates that the captain of the steamer was responsible for her bombardment by the submarine. The report says the Rowanmore disregarded the submarine's signal to halt and endeavored to escape at full speed, making it necessary for the submarine to fire a few shots in order to bring her to.

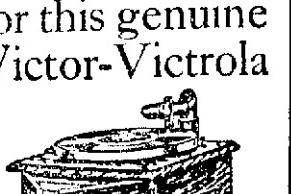

The crew showed its opinion of the captain's course, the report says, by piling into boats, leaving the master alone on the steamer. He was forced to lower a boat unaided and was paddling around alone therein when picked up by the submarine.

The Americans on board, as far as can be learned, consisted of several men, women.

No report has been received on the fate of the British steamer Marietta, which with 63 Americans in the crew

SINKU-BOAT WITH BRITISH CAPTAIN ON BOARD

BOSTON, Nov. 13.—How Capt. Phelan of the Johnstone liner Rowan more met his death abroad a German submarine, at the hands of his own countrymen, was a piece of news suppressed by the admiralty censor, only to be related here yesterday by officers and crew of the British steamer Sagamore, en route from Liverpool. According to the story, which up to the present had been guarded zealously from the press and wire service both in this country and abroad, Capt. Phelan was taken prisoner when his ship was sunk by a submarine about two weeks ago, and locked in a cabin preparatory to being taken to Bremerhaven.

Less than an hour afterward the underwater boat was overhauled by a British cruiser, and without a word being exchanged from either side, was sent to the bottom with two British torpedoes in her. The incident was witnessed by members of the Rowanmore's crew, who reached Liverpool on the day the Sagamore sailed, and told their story to the Sagamore's men. They said that they had seen their captain go aboard, a prisoner between two German officers, and that there was little doubt he had been killed.

The chief officer of the Rowanmore, who escaped with the rest of the crew, was closeted with the leading officials of the admiralty, immediately on his arrival in Britain. The captain of the British warship was also called to the conference.

A dispatch from Berlin, via Sayville, received last night, said that the captain of the submarine that sank the Rowanmore had reported to the German admiralty. This contradicts the story of its having been sunk.

The suggestion was made to the Sagamore's officers yesterday that some sort of signal might have been exchanged between submarine and warship, by which the British captain's presence aboard might have been made known. It was their opinion, however, that signalling would have made no difference, and that the life of the captain would have been sacrificed rather than the ship have a chance to get away.

TUBERCULOSIS IS DECREASING IN THIS STATE

Special to The Sun

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Nov. 13.—Tuberculosis is decreasing in Massachusetts, according to the monthly report of the state department of health, and today, "it is gratifying to find," the department says, "that the death rate from this disease during the ten years from 1905 to 1914 inclusive has in every year shown a decrease, except in the rural communities. For the entire state the death rate decreased from 15.65 for each 100,000 of population in 1905 to 11.37 in 1914."

The department declared that while the present situation is encouraging, "tuberculosis is a preventable disease, and there is still much educational work to be done, especially in the rural communities."

In the ten cities of the state, having a population of more than 50,000, with an aggregate population of 1,669,612, or nearly one-half the inhabitants of the state, the decrease in the death rate for the ten years was 33.7, or slightly less than the decrease (42.8 inches) for the entire state.

This shows that it is in the smaller cities and larger towns that the real effective work toward checking the scourge has been accomplished, for the report stated that in the communities having a population of 2500 or less the death rate took a sharp jump upwards in 1910 and 1911.

"This apparent great increase was caused," it says, "by the opening of two new state sanatoria at North Reading and Lakeville. The death rate in these communities, 222 towns with an aggregate population of 241,149, or about 7 per cent of the state, increased in the ten years from 68.0 to 173.1. It is, of course, unfair to give this as the death rate in rural communities in view of the facts that nearly all the deaths occurring in state sanatoria in these towns are of persons coming from places larger than the rural communities, and that the death is charged up, not to the real place of residence but to the town in which the patient died."

BILLY SUNDAY OPENS CAMPAIGN IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Nov. 13.—Billy Sunday, cyclone evangelist, fired yesterday the first gun in a campaign that promises to be the greatest of his whirlwind career.

In the Huntington Avenue Tabernacle, the largest building ever erected in this country for religious purposes, he addressed more people than he had ever faced under one roof at any time in his life—and more people than were ever before gathered indoors in New England.

In all, there were some 52,500 admissions to the great wooden tent. This is the total of an estimated attendance of 17,500 persons at each of the three meetings, morning, afternoon and evening.

The great audience parted into the collection pews a total of $5337.95.

Mr. Sunday opened his first sermon with a scathing denunciation of the evils which infest society today. At the morning meeting he climbed still higher, and delivered his climax from the top of the desk. And his astonished auditors will not be overcome with amazement if tomorrow he brings a punctuation from the lofty elevation of the sounding board above the platform.

MILK CONTROVERSY IN THIS STATE SETTLED

BOSTON, Nov. 13.—The controversy over the wholesale price of milk in the local market, which had caused many farmers throughout New England to refuse to ship their product to Boston dealers for the past six weeks, was regarded as settled today. The Directors of the New England Milk Producers' Association, who had recommended withdrawal of milk from this city until their price was met, sent to the farmers a letter based on a vote taken last night to accept the concessions offered by the dealers.

"How many immigrants have you now here?" he asked. He was told about 200.

"Not enough," he declared. "Go out into the neighborhood. I want to feed any number up to 1000, perhaps more if you can get them."

Nearly 1000 poor were fed at his expense between 1 p.m. and midnight.

BODY FOUND IN WOODS

The skeleton of a man was found in the woods off the Stannoth road in Pelham Saturday by Howard H. Chase. The latter was hunting at the time and came across the remains.

The flesh was all gone and but a few shreds of the clothing remained. He notified the authorities and Medical Referee B. V. Moran of Nashua went to the scene.

The skeleton was found on what was formerly the James Butler farm.

The remnants of clothing remaining about it consisted of pieces of heavy weight underclothes, heavy woolen stockings, a gray sweater, black coat and vest, overalls and cap, but all in decayed fragments. New pair of shoes and stockings, about size 9, covered the bones of the feet. What was thought to be a small wisp of gray hair was discovered under the skull. Two front teeth were missing from the upper jaw while all other teeth were in good condition.

BRITISH VICTORY

is even said that the Russians have succeeded in crossing the Danube at two points south of Tschernavoda which, if correct, would mean that von Mackensen's army was being taken in the rear or that he had been forced back from the Constanza-Tschernavoda railway line. His force is said to be demoralized from reverses, heavy losses, disease and lack of reinforcements.

Constanza Bombed

The Black sea port of Constanza is reported again under the fire of the Russian fleet.

The recent Siberian victory in Macedonia appears, from the entente accounts, to have been a brilliant one. Paris reports that the Germans and Bulgarians were pushed back nearly two miles in the Cerna river region, southeast of Monastir in a two-day battle and they lost 1000 men in prisoners. Unofficial accounts announce an additional Serbian success to the north along the bend of the river, carrying the closing in movement on monastic still further.

Official Berlin today reports that entente artillery was yesterday shelling Tschernavoda in Dobrudja from across the Danube.

Tentative Progress

Tentative progress continues on the Transylvanian border of Rumania, the German statement declares. Three towns were captured, numerous attacks by the Rumanians were repulsed and more than 1000 prisoners were taken.

The French, according to Berlin, opened an offensive yesterday in Upper Alsace but were defeated in their attempts to advance. German artillery, it is declared, broke up entente efforts to gain ground in the Somme area.

Berlin Reports Success

Today's German official statement, besides indicating that Field Marshal von Mackensen is still in possession of the Tschernavoda-Constanza railway line, declares that hostile forces advancing down the Danube in Dobrudja were driven back.

Regarding the fighting along the Transylvanian border, Bucharest reports the Rumanians as holding their own in an all-day battle northeast of Delmen, in upper Alsace, launched after artillery preparations completely failed.

SERBIANS ARE CONTINUING PER-SUIT OF DEFEATED BUL-GARIANS

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The Serbians are continuing their pursuit of the defeated Bulgarians in the Cerna bend and have captured the village of Iven, according to a Reuter's despatch from Soloniki. Iven is five miles north of Belog, is about ten miles within the Serbian border. Its capture, if confirmed, also means that the Serbians have effected a new crossing of the Cerna river.

SAYS WILSON ATTITUDE TOWARD WARRIOR NATIONS GRAD-UALLY CHANGING

BERLIN, Nov. 13, via London.—President Wilson's attitude toward the warring nations of Europe is gradually changing, according to the Frankfurter Zeitung which, in discussing Mr. Wilson's re-election says:

"Germany's relations with America depend in the highest degree upon the future views and sentiments of this hard and self-willed personality, but certain signs indicate that President Wilson is gradually taking a more unbiased standpoint than hitherto."

"How does it happen that large circles of American people, including women voters, prefer Wilson to Hughes for sentimental reasons? Because they assume his ambition remains to keep the republic out of the gigantic conflict of the other great powers. Whatever one says about the vitality of pacifist ideals we will commit the gravest error in understanding their power over the American nation. Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollwege would probably shrink from begin regarded as a sentimental dream yet he unequivocally proclaims the goal of humanity to be 'agreements and understandings.' That contrasts very strikingly with theropic words with which our Premier Clemenceau of France addressed Wilson as 'this more than fantastic orator.'

"President Wilson will have, first, to ascertain how the entente stands toward his plans. Only then can he expect that Germany, which certainly has not been coddled by him, will occupy itself with his ideas."

RUSSIANS HAVE CROSSED THE DANUBE INTO DOB-
RUDA

LONDON, Nov. 13, 12:15 p. m.—The Russians have crossed the Danube into Dobrudja at two points south of Tschernavoda and the Russian fleet has renewed the bombardment of Constanza, according to Petrograd advices received today by wireless by way of Rome.

Field Marshal von Mackensen is reported continuing his retreat with demoralized forces and with one-third of his effectives lost.

The ravages of disease and the military reverses sustained are declared in the Petrograd advices to have severely affected the morale of von Mackensen's army while the reinforcements he requested to make good his losses are said not to have been provided. His retreat therefore being conducted under disastrous conditions.

BERLIN REPORTS NOTHING OF IMPORTANCE IN CAR-
PATHIANS

BERLIN, Nov. 13, by wireless to Sayville—There was nothing of military importance to report in yesterday's operations along the battle front from the Baltic sea to the Carpathian mountains, says today's German official statement.

SERBIANS HAVE WON A BRIL-LIANT VICTORY OVER CEN-TRAL POWERS

PARIS, Nov. 13, noon.—The Serbians have won a brilliant victory over the Germans and Bulgarians in the Cerna district southeast of Monastir, the war office announced today. The Serbians supported by French artillery forced the Teutonic allies to retire at a distance of nearly two miles and captured about 1000 prisoners.

The retreat of the German-Bulgarian force was completed after a battle lasting two days.

The prisoners taken raise the total captured since September 12, says the statement, to 6000 men, together with 72 cannon and 53 machine guns taken during this period.

BRITISH OPEN ATTACK ON BOTH SIDES OF THE ANCRE
RIVER

LONDON, Nov. 13, 1:40 p. m.—The British opened an attack this morning on both sides of the Ancre river on the northern part of the Somme front. The war reports the capture of a considerable number of prisoners.

The statement reads:

"This morning we attacked on both sides of the Ancre, capturing a considerable number of prisoners."

"Hostile artillery actively continued during the night on our positions in the neighborhood of Lesbœufs and Gouy court. Our was successfully disengaged by us against enemy trenches opposite Raps. The enemy's trenches were entered by us southeast of Armentières."

A. F. OF L. CONVENTION ANNUAL REPORT READ

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 13.—The 36th annual convention of the American Federation of Labor opened a two weeks' session here today. Cardinal Gibbons delivered the invocation, and addresses of welcome were made by Acting Mayor Hubert, Gov. E. C. Harrington and President J. H. Ferguson of the Baltimore federation. President Samuel Gompers of the national organization responded.

THE ANNUAL REPORT

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 13.—Organized labor's activities in the field of legislation, international politics and domestic affairs during the last year were set forth at length in the annual report of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, presented here today to the federation's thirty-sixth annual convention.

The membership of the federation is given at 2,071,836 on September 30, the close of the fiscal year, an increase of about 125,000 over the previous year and of more than 1,800,000 in the nineteen years of its existence. There are 21,711 local unions in the federation and 45 state federations. Receipts for the year are shown at $404,407 with a cash balance at its close of $883,360.

The report closes with a plea to workers to continue their efforts for better conditions through organization and co-operation.

"There are opening up before the labor movement," it says, "tremendous opportunities to mold and influence the foundation of economic, social and political organization. It is fitting to call attention to our well known slogan which represents the way by which present progress was achieved—'Agitate! Educate! Organize!'—much has already been achieved through organization and the toilers are just beginning to realize the great opportunities that lie before them; only through better and stronger organization can all enter that heritage."

"It is but fitting that we should express our deep appreciation of the respect and confidence manifested toward us by the great rank and file of the organized labor movement of America and by the liberty, humanity loving people of the continent. Never in history as now has there existed such feeling and spirit of unity, solidarity and brotherhood. It all augurs well not only for the well being of the workers of our own time, but all the people for all time."

In discussing international labor relations, the report speaks of the effort to have a world labor congress held at the time and place of the holding of a world peace congress at the end of the European war, and the rejection of the suggestion by organized labor in Great Britain and Germany which "necessarily requires that our proposition be abandoned." This attitude led to the adoption of this suggestion by the council:

"Since the first proposal submitted by the A.F.L. to the labor organizations of Europe has been definitely rejected by them, we suggest that the organized labor movements of those countries that shall participate in the general peace conference determine terms and conditions of peace at the close of the war, shall make upon their respective governments that the wage earners shall be represented in an official commission from their respective countries. The same policy ought to be pursued also by organized labor movements of neutral countries if it shall be determined that neutral countries also will participate in the general peace conference. Thus, representative wage earners would be seated with other representatives of the nations in general conference connected with the formulation of peace terms. In this way, the ideals and needs of wage earners would be presented and considered by the general official body."

In discussing Pan-American labor relations, the report details conferences in Washington last summer between President Gompers and other officers of the American Federation and representatives of organized labor in Mexico, when the relations between the two countries were "most critical." The report suggests that a Pan-American Federation "is not only possible but necessary."

"When conditions had arisen that seemed to make war between the United States and Mexico inevitable," continues the report, "the understanding between the labor movements of the United States and Mexico took on more definite form and was again instrumental in throwing light upon the influences and the agents that were trying to create war sentiment and the seeming necessity for intervention in the affairs of Mexico, and was able to help bring about an adjustment of misunderstandings without resorting to war."

The report details the conferences and tests of the ultimatum sent to General Carranza by the United States demanding immediate release of American soldiers captured at Carrizal. "It was at this time," the report goes on, "that a request was made to President Gompers that he make a personal appeal to General Carranza to release the United States soldiers." The telegram asking release "in the name of common justice and humanity and a better understanding between the two countries" and to avoid "the horrors of war" was recited and the report goes on to say that "that same evening extra papers announced General Carranza had issued an order releasing the American soldiers."

The conferences, the report says, led to an understanding which made more general "the feeling that the people of Mexico knew what they wanted, understood their peculiar problems, and had a right to work out their own salvation in accord with their own ideals."

Reviewing anti-trust and injunction regulation the report says:

"The enactment of the labor program of the Clayton anti-trust act has forced employers who wish to use anti-trust legislation and the injunctive process to assist them in defeating the efforts of employees to secure higher wages and better conditions of work, to transfer their efforts from federal to state courts. The result makes increasingly important the necessity for the enactment of state laws to prevent the abuse of judicial agencies and the perversion of legislation to exclusive service in behalf of employers. The uses to which writers of injunction and anti-trust legislation have been put have made them virtually strike-breaking institutions and union-destroying agencies. Such a condition is subversive to proper respect for our governmental institutions and to the republic itself."

Such a condition the report says resulted in the framing of a model anti-trust and injunction limitation bill presented to the San Francisco federation convention and urged by it upon central organizations and the rank and file to be insisted upon as proper law.

Decisions of courts favorable and unfavorable to the contents of labor are reviewed, some emphasis being laid upon a decision of the supreme court of Massachusetts holding unconstitutional a state law which was taken by the federation as its first model in the endeavor to protect wage earners from "the perverted application of anti-trust legislation and from the abuse of the writ of injunction."

The decision, the report says, is based on the theory that "labor is property" which it asserts is a dogmatic ruling and based upon past decisions of judges. The court is charged with not making proper investigation in deciding such a case and its methods are characterized as "unscholarly, unscientific, and out of harmony with the purposes of real justice." The report says the executive council will consider the case to determine whether further steps may be taken.

In connection with decisions affecting labor by federal courts the report refers to the noted Danbury Hatters' case.

"The great wrong that was done in the Danbury Hatters' case," it says, "may be eradicated after long years. The aged, infirm Danbury Hatters have been ordered to pay the Shylock award claimed by the Antiboycott association. The shadow of the Hatters' case which for years hung like a threatening pall over the labor movement has power to incite."

"The decision of the United States supreme court in 1912 established a precedent which judges are trying to make law, although the highest law-making body of the country—the agency to which the nation delegated that function—has enacted legislation to remedy the great wrongs done by that decision. Justice, hampered by the judiciary, works slowly and in devious ways."

The report says a decision by the United States court of appeals, in the case of A. S. Dowd against the United Mine Workers of America begun six weeks before the Clayton law was enacted and involving operation of Arkansas coal mines, "seeks to rivet upon wage earners the precedent" of the Hatters' case "and to carry that interpretation to even greater lengths of injustice."

The report says the court laid down the principle that an unincorporated body could be sued for three-fold damages alleged to have been caused by striking miners and that a strike may be an interference with interstate commerce and all members of the union whether in the strike or not, become liable for damages.

"The decision is an example of coastal instinct," continues the report. "If that decision is allowed to become part of the law of this country it will result in the destruction of unionism."

"The United States court of appeals for the eighth circuit has endeavored to vindicate the purposes of the Clayton anti-trust act and to discredit it. The decision of the court is in conflict with the laws of the land, is at variance with the ethical concepts and standards of the citizens of the United States and with the facts of life and work. It is a dangerous condition in our republic when judges who exercise discretionary and almost wholly irresponsible power can suspend the law of the land and rule contrary to the wishes and judgment of citizens."

"This one thing must be settled so well judges read and learn the primer of human liberty or will they devote their ability and mentality to the service of winning cases for men of wealth and line up with the exploiters and the predatory interests of the country."

Speaking of the eight-hour day law passed by congress to avert the recently threatened railroad strike, the report says: "For nearly a century the labor movement of America has conducted a campaign for the establishment of a maximum eight-hour work day," and characterizes the legislation by congress as a "notable movement." It says the eight-hour day was established "as a primary step in conserving the lives and the working power of wage earners."

In taking the position that the principle of the eight-hour day should be conceded as a right that ought not be arbitrated, the report says: "Neither President Wilson nor the railway brochures rejected the principle of arbitration as the railroad presidents were wrongfully claimed. Those matters are arbitrable which concern property and property rights."

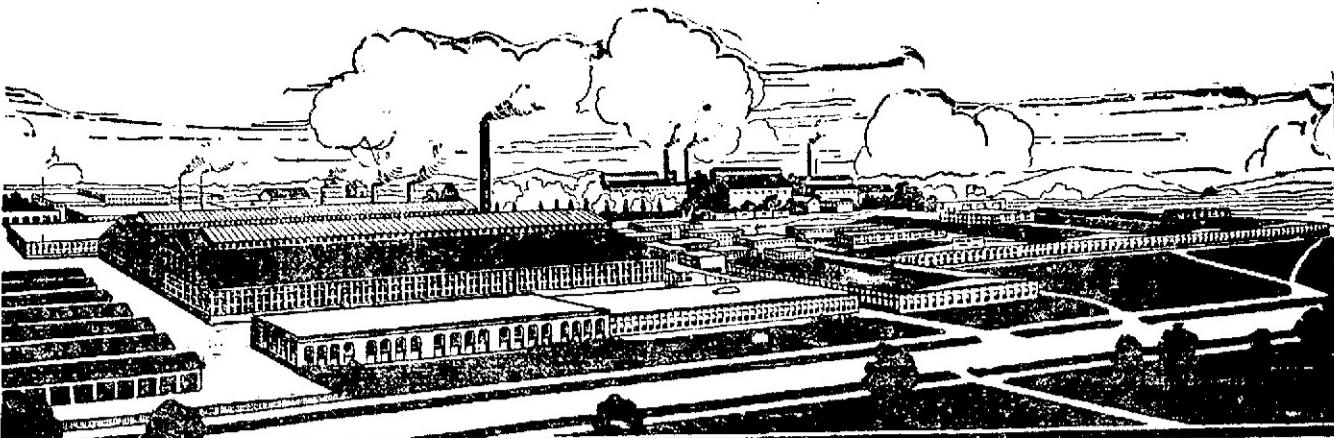

Discussing President Wilson's proposal for legislation the report says an essential feature was the creation of "compulsory governmental institutions to regulate industrial relations in an occupation not owned or operated by the government itself. It is a revolutionary proposition totally out of harmony with our prevailing institutions and out of harmony with our philosophy of government."

"The wage-earners of the United States will oppose any proposition to impose on them compulsory institutions which dislodge involuntary servitude. They hold that the principle involved in voluntary institutions is the key to personal and industrial freedom and that this principle is of more importance to them than any other consideration. Involuntary and compulsory labor once enforced even for a single hour, will not half at its temporary enforcement, but will go on and become permanent."

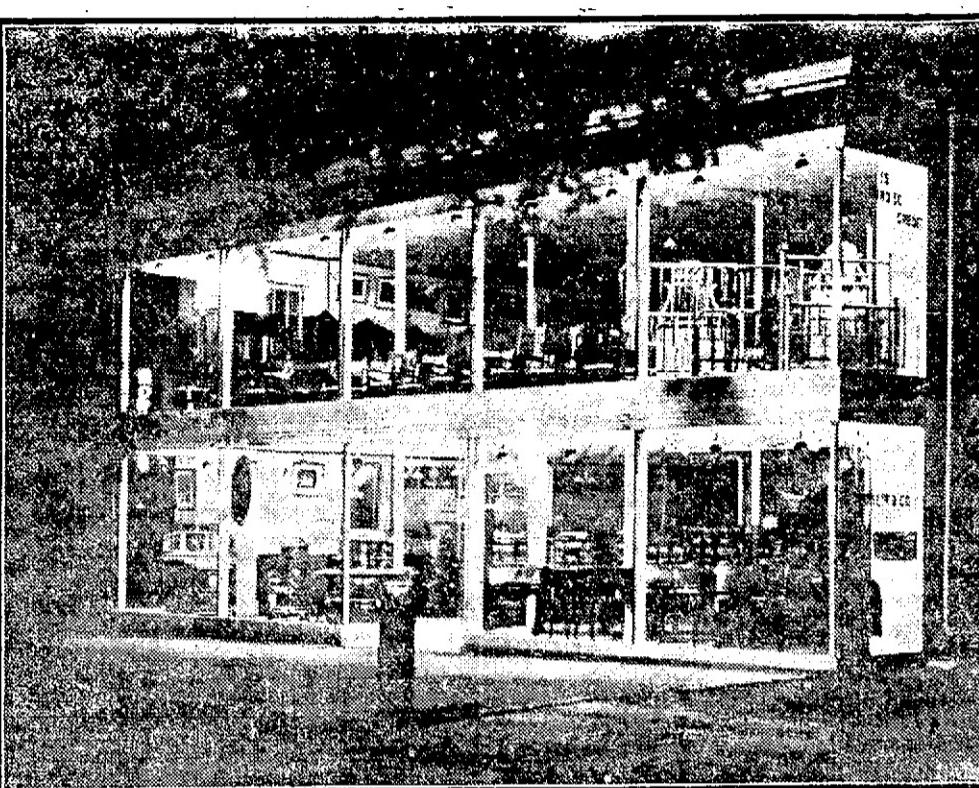

A "splendid record of achievement" in legislation, through activities of the federation by "positive participation in politics for the purpose of securing the election of those in favor of the aims of the labor movement and the defeat of those who had demonstrated their hostility to the cause of labor" is set forth in detail.

In connection with proposed legislation the report recommends that any board created to administer such a law be non-partisan in character and represent agriculture, labor, commerce, industry and education and that it not be permitted to become a mere political adjunct of the party in power."

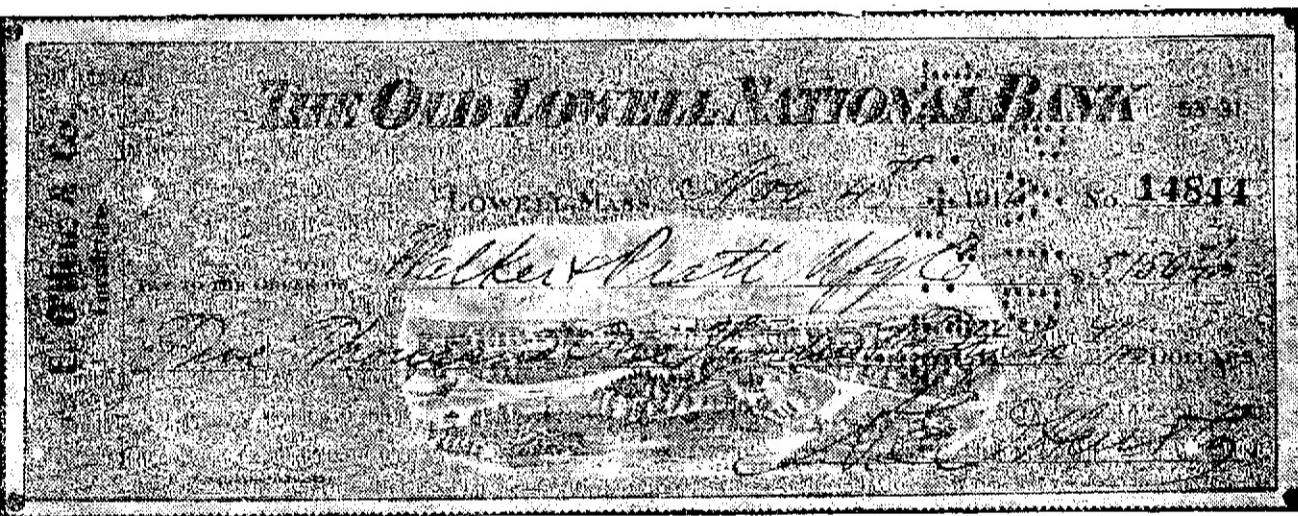

The right of labor to participation in matters affecting it is insisted upon with the statement: "The basis for representation and participation in the affairs of organized society is much, not

FOUR TEACHERS HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

ONE PINNED UNDER OVERTURNED CAR—IN SERIOUS CONDITION AT BOSTON HOTEL

BOSTON, Nov. 13.—Miss Lettie R. Moore of Cambridge, a teacher of manual training in the Boston public schools, was in a serious condition at the Massachusetts General Hospital last night, suffering from injuries to her spine, received when an automobile overturned and rolled into a ditch in Bowley. Three other teachers, one of them her brother, Edward Moore, master of the Fessenden Preparatory School at Newton, were injured in the accident.

The police of Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Maine were searching for the occupants of an automobile which sideswiped the Moore machine and turned over as it rolled down a 10-foot embankment, tossing the occupants out.

Miss Moore was pinned under the machine. All four were taken to the hospital last night, that two passengers bearing Maine license plates were responsible for the accident.

According to the story told by Moore he was driving toward Exeter,

N. H., and had reached the center of the town of Bowley, just this side of Newburyport. A hen suddenly began him and he turned to the side of the road.

As he did so a large machine shot by at a speed of 50 miles an hour, another closely following it, sideswiped the Moore machine and hurled it to the side of the road where it turned over as it rolled down a 10-foot embankment, tossing the occupants out.

Miss Moore was pinned under the machine. All four were taken to the hospital last night, that two passengers bearing Maine license plates were responsible for the accident.

Miss Moore and Miss Nolan live at 2 Clinton street, Cambridge.

ZAPATA'S MEN MASSACRE OVER 100

LAREDO, Texas, Nov. 13.—An indiscriminate massacre of nearly 100 women, children and Carranza soldiers who were travelling on a train near Centeneras, state of Morelos, which was attacked by Zapata followers is reported in Mexico City newspapers received here yesterday.

After the attack on the train, the dead lay in piles beside the cars, the papers state.

Only one person so far as known escaped death at the hands of the bandits. He was Captain Antonio Pries.

The attack occurred Nov. 7. The passenger train, convoyed by a military train eight kilometers in advance, was held in a mountain wilderness after the military train had been allowed to pass unmolested.

For 15 minutes the Zapatistas kept the slaying, staying men and women who prayed for mercy and killing the babies who accompanied their mothers, the papers declare.

Soldiers aboard the passenger train were without their accoutrements and unable to offer any resistance. In the list of dead given in the Mexico City papers is the name of Colonel Gasido Altar, two majors and three captains.

OBJECT TO GARAGE

BOSTON, Nov. 13.—Several hundred demonstrants will attend a hearing tomorrow morning at the commissioners' rooms to protest against the granting of a permit to build a garage at the corner of East Cottage street and Columbia road, Dorchester.

The demonstrators claim that the district is purely residential, and as the site of the proposed building is adjacent to the Strandway it will be "unsightly."

NEW POLITICAL ALIGNMENT

The changed political aspect of this country is now engaging the attention of politicians of all parties. The political centre of gravity has shifted and California rather than New York is now the pivotal state. There is a fresh split between the republicans and the progressives and the one that can never be closed until the "old Guard" is eliminated. There is also another factor to be eliminated—it is Theodore Roosevelt. Some are so far mistaken as to claim that had he been the candidate in the recent election, he would have beaten Wilson. So far from this being true, the fact is that Roosevelt perhaps more than any other single factor caused the defeat of Mr. Hughes.

There will undoubtedly be a reorganization of the republican party on new lines and if any candidates are at this early day being picked, there is one man who stands pre-eminently above all others—United States Senator-Elect Hiram Johnson of California who carried the state by 200,000. The country will never again show any confidence in Roosevelt. He is a political hoodoo and a man who if elevated to any high federal office would be a menace to the peace and welfare of this nation.

TRouble WITH GERMANY

There are now two cases in which German submarines may have overstepped the limits set by President Wilson in his strict accountability note. If after due investigation it is found that Germany has violated international law in sinking any American ship or in causing the loss of American lives, then will President Wilson apply the power resting in his hands as chief executive of this republic to deal with Germany in a manner that will convince her that we mean business in asserting our rights as a neutral nation.

TRADE AFTER THE WAR

Previous to election there was a great deal of republican talk about the danger of European trade competition after the war. It was alleged that European nations now at war were getting ready to vamp us with their manufactured products. Those nations will not be in condition to do much in the line of manufacturing for a long time after the war.

England, however, is apparently getting ready to supplant Germany in the markets of certain countries in Europe and South America. That may concern us to the extent that we may meet her there as a competitor rather than upon our own shores. This "after the war dumping" policy served its purpose in the republican campaign, but it had no substantial bottom. Congress has made provision for such an emergency. But the foreign field is another proposition for which the republicans made no provision. It remained for the democratic party to take steps to establish a merchant marine to conduct our foreign commerce.

In that light this country will rise to a state of national prosperity that would be impossible under the narrow republican policy of protection that drove the American flag on the high seas.

England has started schools for instruction in the Russian language, Spanish and Portuguese. It is understood that she will have trade preference at least over Germany and Austria in Russian territory; and she is preparing to make the most of it. She will also try to supplant Germany in some of the South American republics with which the Germans did considerable business. This may concern us more particularly, yet we cannot assume that neither England nor the United States can supply even fairly decent substitutes for the line of toys and other specialties which Germany sold to this country and the southern republics.

BAY STATE LEADS

Massachusetts keeps up her industrial lead in the textile and shoe industries according to a recent bulletin issued by the census bureau at Washington. The value of her products in cotton in 1914 was $195,000,000, the nearest competitor being North Carolina with $105,000,000. It appears that the output of this southern state is rapidly growing. In the shoe industry, also, the Bay State holds even greater pre-eminence, the annual product being valued at $95,000,000 while New York state, her nearest rival, produces $67,000,000 worth. In woodens, Massachusetts doubles the output of Pennsylvania, her nearest competitor, the amounts being $127,000,000 and $63,000,000 respectively. Although southern competition in the cotton industry was greatly feared by New England some years ago, it does not seem to have affected itself with such rapidity as was expected. Some of the most prosperous mills of the south are conducted by New England companies.

REVERSING CIVILIZATION

While the European nations at war continue to slaughter their armies, the sociologists at home are busy working out a plan for the introduction of polygamy to afford husbands for the surplus of unmarried women who have been left without a mate for nearly two to one for the ten years succeeding the war. It is rather strange that these sociologists should have no other suggestion to meet the situation. Why not offer inducement to young men of other countries to immigrate? It is alleged that after the Thirty Years war, which ended with the peace of Westphalia in 1648, polygamy was legalized in some of the German states. This would be a step backward in civilization.

FINE OF $150

Judge Bright's imposition of $150 fine for a motorcycle for reckless speeding will cause others to take notice. These vehicles of late have been more of a menace on the streets than that of prohibition is marching on.

Candidate Hughes will now return to the practice of law and President Wilson will have to fill his place on the supreme bench of the United States. In that body are at least three members who are likely soon to retire on account of age—White, McKenna and Holmes. The president may have to fill their places also.

ST. JOSEPH'S CONVENT HAS ANNIVERSARY

Yesterday marked the 23d anniversary of the opening of St. Joseph's convent in Moody street, and special exercises were held in the school to-day, but instead of the large assembly hall on the top floor of the building has been converted into classrooms, the exercises were held in the various rooms, the programs consisting of songs and recitations. In the course of the day, the children were honored by the visit of the pastor, Rev. J. H. Racette, O.M.I., who spoke interestingly on the work performed by the school since its inception. Rev. Sister St. Charles, superior of the school also addressed the children, giving a history of the school since it was opened. St. Joseph's convent is a monument to the memory of the late Rev. Andre M. Garin, O.M.I., first pastor and founder of St. Joseph's parish and hundreds of well known business and professional men of this city have received their early education in this edifice under the able tuition of the tireless Nuns of the Cross. The convent was erected about 15 years after the founding of St. Joseph's parish or after classes had been conducted in the basement of St. Joseph's church for a number of years. It was opened to the children on Nov. 12, 1885 and the first sister in charge of the school was Rev. Sister Plante, who returned and a new modern up-to-date home for the sisters was constructed at the corner of James and Moody streets. The number of pupils in the school kept increasing to such an extent that the assembly hall on the top floor was converted into four classrooms. This relieved the crowding, but a few years ago a kindergarten school was opened in Fourth avenue, Pawtucketville.

The sisters in charge of the school now 22, counting two who have charge of the little boys from 5 to 7 years, who attend the school on Merrimack street next to St. Jean Baptiste church. The ordinary school studies together with French are taught and some of the pupils of the school have been honored by the archdiocese parochial school examiner.

The past superiors of the school are as follows: Sister Plante, now superior of St. Joseph's orphanage, Ottawa; Sister McMillin, now superior at Pembroke, Ont.; Sister St. Raphael, now at the mother house at Ottawa; Sister St. Marie de la Victoire, now superior of the boarding school at Plattsburg, N. Y., and Sister St. Felix, now superior at L'Original, Que.

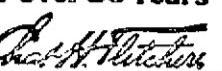

Home for Sisters

A home for the sisters was built on a piece of land fronting the school building, but some four years ago this building was moved across the street

Armour's

"SIMON PURE" LEAF LARD

One of Armour's Varieties

"Simon Pure" comes only in pails—purely protected. It is the most efficient medium for deep frying because it stands extreme heat without smoking or burning. "Simon Pure" is the ideal shortening because it develops the utmost delicacy in the foods you prepare. Slightly higher in price than other lards, but more economical in the end, for superior richness makes three pails equal for ordinary lard. Test this.

CARRIGAN MAY AGAIN LEAD RED SOX

BOSTON, Nov. 13.—Bill Carrigan will be manager of the Red Sox in 1917—that is, he will be if Harry Frazee and Hugh Ward are ready to pay the price.

From reliable sources it is learned that, while Bill is sincere in his determination to quit, there is a salary point at which he might suddenly become very much interested in his old job. It may be said that Carrigan hardly believes at present that the new owners will reach this mark in their negotiations. It is a figure in excess of what the Giants have been paying John McGraw and as the gods have placed the Little Napoleon's salary at anywhere from $20,000 to $30,000, it is easy to see what the Frazee-Ward combination has to shoot at.

GRAND CIRCUIT RACING

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 13.—A proposal to eliminate Grand Circuit racing at Charter Oak Park in the future is expected to come up for consideration at the annual meeting of the Connecticut Fair association here Nov. 29. The races have been run in connection with the fair each fall.

Those who oppose continuance of the big meeting assert that since the anti-betting laws became effective horsemen have lost interest which has had a bad effect on the quality of the racing and they claim the association would do better to open its tracks to racing such as that held at Goshen and Middletown, N. Y. Active opposition to the proposal is expected, however.

PORTSMOUTH SCHOOL JANITOR KILLS HIMSELF

FIRST, PHINNEY ASKS REPORTER TO TAKE LETTER TO LAWYER— LOST HEAVY ELECTION BETS

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Nov. 13.—Robert W. Phinney, a janitor in the school department, committed suicide yesterday by shooting himself at the Whipple school. Before taking his life he called a newspaperman to the window and after requesting him to deliver a letter to Judge E. L. Guptill which contained instructions about his property and funeral, he made the reported good-by and said "I am going to do it."

The first one went wild and lodged in a book. He then walked to a chair and sat down and put the revolver in his mouth. The second shot penetrated the brain.

The loss of a large sum on the national election is thought to have unbalanced his mind. He has served several terms as alderman and councilman.

FATIMA

A Sensible Cigarette

20 for 15¢

A Sensible Cigarette delivers COMFORT

If you think of Fatimas as being in a class by themselves, it must be due to one and only one reason—

Fatimas actually deliver a service that no other cigarette can give.

If you are smoking Fatimas you have discovered this. You have found that their delicately balanced Turkish blend is comfortable. That is why Fatimas leave you feeling fine and fit even after an unusually long-smoking day.

Surely—a comfortable smoke must be a sensible smoke.

POLICEMAN KILLS MAN IN DUEL

MARLBOROUGH, Nov. 13.—William G. Avery, a contractor, is dead, and Patrolman Reuben C. Payne was reported in a serious condition last night, the result of an attempt to place Avery under arrest for abusing his mother yesterday afternoon. Each man shot the other.

Avery submitted quietly to arrest and walked from his mother's home with Patrolman Payne. At the gate he snatched a .32 calibre pistol from his pocket and shot the patrolman over the heart. Payne staggered, fell to his knees and pulled his own pistol.

Avery turned to fire again and the first shot from the officer's gun struck him in the mouth. Payne struggled to his feet and fired again. The second shot struck Avery in the breast and the latter dropped, unconscious, in the street. Payne ran across the street to telephone for assistance, then fainted and rolled into the gutter.

When Chief of Police Goodwin and another policeman, who had been summoned by the termed neighbor, arrived, both patrolmen and prisoner were unconscious in the street. They were rushed in the same ambulance to the Salem hospital.

Chief Goodwin sat guard at the bedside of Avery until 8.10 last night, when he died. At midnight Payne's name was on the dangerous list.

Refreshments were served. The soldier boys told interesting stories of their experiences at the border and assured their friends that they were very glad to be home again. A musical program was carried out and everybody spent a very pleasant evening.

THE FILTRATION PLANT

The filtration plant on the boulevard has been pronounced "O.K." by F. A. Barbour, the special engineer hired to pass expert opinion on conditions at the plant, and hence the final payment of 5 per cent will be paid to the Chas. R. Gow Co. The 5 per cent has been withheld for many months until the plant was found satisfactory in every detail. In the contract there was a provision that if the construction was not satisfactory 5 per cent was to be held back by the city until the defect was remedied. When the plant was completed a leakage was found and this was reported to the Gow Co. A gang of men was put to work doing the repairing with the result that a great improvement has been noted. The amount of the final payment of 5 per cent is $457.15.

Mr. Barbour's letter to Commissioner Putnam is as follows:

Boston, Nov. 10, 1916.

Mr. Newell F. Putnam, Commissioner of Water Works and Fire Protection, City Hall, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:

As shown by recent test made by Mr. Rice, the leakage in the filters of the boulevard plant has reduced from the original 75,000 gallons during the few months since the plant has been in service. This latter amount is about one per cent. of the quantity of water treated per day, and therefore insignificant as compared with other losses always present in a system of water works.

The indications are that this leakage will still further reduce with continued use of the plant, and I therefore see no reason why the balance of five per cent. on the contract of the Charles R. Gow Co. which has been held pending the observation of the leakage of filters, should not now be paid, and I am therefore enclosing certificate of such payment.

I am also enclosing statement of balance due me, based on expenditure as taken from the books of your department and including a balance of the Govt. contract, to which I am now certifying.

Yours very truly,
F. A. Barbour.

Tuesday, Nov. 14th. Hours 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

To all who call at the Hotel, I will give Consultations, Diagnosis of Disease, and Examinations, Absolutely Free of Charge.

Never before has such an opportunity been given the sick of this vicinity, and if you are suffering, you should not fail to take advantage of it. Those wishing to see him should remember the Days, Dates and Office Hours of his visits and call early to avoid the crowded last hours.

For nearly 15 years I have been studying the Chemistry of food and Chemistry of the human body. I have put these two sciences together and formulated the science of Applied Food Chemistry. By the application of this knowledge I cure all forms of stomach and intestinal diseases, and all other disorders that result from wrong eating and drinking. This method cannot fail because it conforms to the laws of Nature. If you obey them you cannot be sick. If you do not obey them you cannot be well.

You have no idea what your body is capable of, until you have it perfectly nourished. You have no idea what your mind is capable of, until it lives in a perfectly nourished body.

If medicine is needed in any case I prescribe only such remedies that do not conflict with the proper diet.

I get results and this ends all argument.

Dr. NAUGHTON will positively be at the NEW AMERICAN HOTEL, Tuesday November 14th, from 10.00 o'clock in the morning until 7.00 o'clock in the evening to consult with and examine all cases personally.

INDIANS TO MEET THE CLIPPERS OF LAWRENCE

Manager Edward Donnellan of the Indian football team dropped into The Sun office today and deposited $10 as forfeit money for a game with the Clippers of Lawrence for Saturday afternoon. In the event of the manager of the Lawrence team failing to cover the money tomorrow night the game will be called off. This course was taken by Mr. Donnellan as a result of the failure of the Clippers to appear for a game here last year. Arrangements had been made and the Indians were on the gridiron waiting for their opponents, but they waited in vain. When the Lawrence manager challenged the Indians after the game here Saturday, Mr. Donnellan insisted on forfeit money being posted. This was agreed to and after tomorrow night definite plans for the big game will be announced.

The Indians are playing a great game this season, the acquisition of Williams and several others proving a ten-strike for the team. Williams put up a brilliant game last Saturday and his work showed that he has become thoroughly familiar with the local style of play.

THINK GRAVES TOOK GERMAN MESSAGES

BELIEF THAT CONFIDENTIAL OFFICIAL DESPATCHES WERE IN PACKAGE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The German embassy has reason to believe that a large number of confidential official despatches at present missing, were in the packet from which Karl Armagard Graves extracted letters he is charged with having used in an alleged attempt to obtain $3000 from Countess von Bernstorff, wife of the German ambassador.

The nature of the despatches is unknown. The German government has been sent all available information regarding the packet's contents, and investigation, it is expected, will immediately be made in Berlin with a view of ascertaining what if any secret papers are missing, as well as the identity of the messenger from whom Graves secured the letters.

It was made clear today that Prince Hartmann, counselor of the embassy, through whom Graves attempted to get the $3000, may testify against him.

YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS

For the coming baby's layette the mother should select the following garments, each sufficiently full for contact with the baby body, but not over-blown or "fussy": Six slips of white crepe, made in kimono style; four petticoats, white and in the Gertrude shape; three flannelette petticoats; four fine dresses of white daintily trimmed and having touches of hand embroidery, as well as wide edges of lace; four fine white petticoats; three pairs of cashmere hose; three silk and wool shirts.

Three kimono nighties made from cutting flannel or dainty cloth, these latter made with tucks at the yoke and wrists, so that they may be let out as the wee one grows; three pinners of outing flannel; three bands of the same; two dozen 27-inch diapers of dainty cloth; several suques.

One bonnet: as many booties as friends are determined to shower—and usually there are enough of these for all future babies as well as for the first; a generous quantity of bibs—at least a dozen. The cost of such an outfit is moderate and the equipment ample.

If the little one will not eat her porridge do not force her to consume it against her will. Very likely the resentment in such a case would cause a dangerous state of indigestion and do the child harm. This is an opportunity to use diplomacy.

Get the porridge bowl that has upon the inside some pretty or quaint blue figures that will be covered with the porridge when the bowl is filled. Name the figures so that when the little one decides that she does not wish to finish her porridge she can be induced to do so because little Billy and Susie and Towser or Noddy (according to what the figures may be) may be able to get a clear space enough to look at their small masters.

Another device when a child does not wish to drink the milk that is necessary for its health's sake is to play "soda fountain." This is done by allowing the child to drink the milk through a straw. Not only will it be fun to drink the milk, but the milk will be taken in such small quantities that there will be no danger of indigestion.

Almost invariably the child who is reared in an atmosphere of patient, understanding love, but with a firm and unshaken kindness, grows to manhood or womanhood in excellent health. Almost never do adults who have had such a guarded childhood suffer with "nerves." Niggling is a menace and a continual assault on the finely strung nervous system of any child.

The writer visited a family of children who had a charming playhouse. It was built of dove-tailed boards with a wooden floor and white, it was only about five feet square, it accommodated the four children around its little table. The one window had muslin curtains as had the window in the door.

LOWELL GAINS $13,000 FROM FRANCHISE TAX

Special to The Sun

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Nov. 13.—Lowell's treasury will receive nearly $13,000 more than last year in the 1916 distribution of the corporate franchise tax, according to figures made public today by Tax Commissioner William D. T. Treffry. Last year the city received only $70,712.21, while this year it will get $83,675.30.

There is also a very pleasant surprise in store for residents of Carlisle and Dracut. Neither of these towns received anything in last year's distribution of the tax, but this year Carlisle will receive $466.08, while Dracut will get $2230.76.

Chelmsford, however, will lose nearly $900, receiving only $6314.75 this year, while last year the payment to this town was $15,465.33. Bedford also drops from $898.03 to $173.45. Tewksbury drops from $195.52 to $103.82. Ellerica shows a gain from $178.61 to $279.61, and Westford from $603.87 to $12,193.57.

The business corporation franchise tax is a very complicated affair, and its assessment and distribution is accomplished only after months of tireless effort on the part of a large corps of clerks in the tax commission's department. The first step in the assessment is to determine the fair market value of the outstanding stock of each business corporation in the state. Next the commissioner ascertains from assessors' reports the valuation upon which each corporation has paid a tax locally. If the latter amount is the smaller, he deducts it from the value of the stock, as previously determined, and the difference is deemed to be the value of the corporate franchise of the corporation. Next he determines the average rate at which property is taxed throughout the commonwealth, again using the local assessors' figures, and upon the value of the corporate franchise of each corporation he levies a tax at the rate so ascertained. Bills are sent out from the tax commissioner's office, and payments are made to the state treasurer.

After the money has been collected, it becomes necessary for the tax commissioner to distribute it. He ascertains in the case of each corporation whether any of its stock is owned outside the commonwealth, and if such is the case he deducts a proportionate amount of the tax for the use of the commonwealth. The balance is distributed to the cities and towns. If a corporation has all of its property in a single city or town, all of the balance goes to that municipality; if, on the other hand, it has establishments in more than one city or town, the tax is divided among them in proportion to the local valuations of its property.

The total tax collected this year under the business corporation franchise tax law is $4,911,024.14, of which $550,877.80 is retained in the state treasury on account of stock owned outside the commonwealth. The balance, $4,060,156.34, goes to the various cities and towns. This amount is considerably larger than last year's figure, $3,643,787.81, chiefly because the rate of taxation, which this year is $10.14, is higher than ever before.

LOWELL PASTOR PREACHES ON CROOKS IN LOWELL

Hold Union Service

The preacher at the union service at the Unitarian church, Sunday night, was Rev. Herbert A. Barker. Besides the Unitarian church, the service included the Eliot and High Street Congregational and the First Universalist.

The preacher spoke of our accountability to God. The blue laws, which we now condemn, he said, are only one evidence of the fact that the men who made them believed they were accountable to God for the way in which they lived. We have transferred the judgment seat of God to the new, to the present; and we are perfectly well aware that as a man soweth, so shall he reap. Judgment will be worked out.

If God does not care how his people live, then we have taken from our lives one of the finest impulses. If we take that principle out of life, then what better are we than the beasts of the field? If we are not of such value to the eternal mind that we inherit him individually, then what better are we than the beasts? God thinks enough of every one of us, and every detail of our life is of such infinite concern to him, that as a loving father he expects us to render account to him.

"In the first place, there is the sum traffic in our city. There are 100,000 cars in Lowell, and these are not properly registered, a fact admitted by the mayor and by the chief of police.

"In the second place, we have proof that Lowell's public conscience is crooked because of the way in which people are seeking pleasure. What do I mean? I will read from several newspaper theatrical advertisements. The pastor then read from the advertisements of several Sunday and weekday programs, finishing with Charlie Chaplin. May God help such a city as ours. Probably 50,000 people in Lowell seek pleasure in this way each week.

"In the third place, there is the matter of general Sunday observance. How does Lowell observe it? Theatres and stores are open. I know of stores in this city where almost any article of groceries imaginable may be purchased on Sunday. Let us take a census upon the matter of the people's attitude toward religion.

There are 25,000 people in Centralville. Fifteen thousand of these probably are Roman Catholics, and they go to church. Ten thousand are Protestants, and not more than 2,000 go to church. This fact alone ought to prove that Lowell's civic conscience is crooked."

Swedish M. E. Church

The silver jubilee of the Swedish M. E. church, which opened on Thursday night, closed yesterday with special preaching services, morning, afternoon and evening. Rev. Dr. W. Johnson of Boston, district superintendent, preached in the morning, and Rev. Newton Sandstrom of Quincy spoke in the afternoon. The attendance at the Sunday school was 314.

At the evening service, Rev. Mr. Dills preached a helpful sermon on the topic "Things Worth While." "Cheerfulness is contagious and soon makes friends and kind acts for others in the home, school or office make friends and are worth while," the preacher said.

Calvary Baptist Church

"Good Cheer" was the topic of the sermon preached yesterday morning at the Calvary Baptist church by the pastor, Rev. Mrs. Reed Dills. The speaker called Jesus Christ the greatest teacher of good cheer, and also drew a lesson from the life of Robert Browning, who never was in good health, yet was always optimistic. The attendance at the Sunday school was 314.

On Tuesday, Rev. Mr. Dills preached a helpful sermon on the topic "Things Worth While." "Cheerfulness is contagious and soon makes friends and kind acts for others in the home, school or office make friends and are worth while," the preacher said.

FAVOR CALENDAR YEAR BASIS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Submission of the calendar year for the fiscal year in interstate railway accounting methods was urged before the interstate commerce commission at a hearing today of a committee of railway accounting officers. Approximately 50 per cent of the railroads are said to have advanced the change in better to the commission. It is said the calendar year basis will be much more convenient and would enable roads to concentrate more attention to maintenance work during the summer.

COMPERS BLAMES WALL STREET FOR TROUBLE IN MEXICO

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 13.—Secretary of Labor William B. Wilson delivered the principal address at the opening here today of the 36th annual convention of the American Federation of Labor. He said he was present for the purpose of showing which side he was on.

"The greatest of all functions of the department of labor," said the secretary, "is that of having the hopes, aspirations and philosophy of the wage workers of our country come into the balance of the United States."

Of the two disputes between labor and capital that had come before his department, Mr. Wilson said, 275 had been settled in a satisfactory manner to both sides and before a strike had been reached.

President Samuel Gompers, in an address, declared the American Federation of Labor had a part in countering the Mexican working men so that they might exert a steady influence upon the people and government of Mexico and "that the exploiters of Wall street should not drive us into passion and anger and compel a conflict with our much weaker sister republic of Mexico."

This statement evoked long continued applause.

The Louisiana situation was taken well in hand by the officials of our government," Mr. Gompers added, "and instead of declaring war with bluster, the aims and purposes of that diplomacy have accomplished all that a war could secure."

The passage by congress of the Seamen's act and the Clayton antitrust law were vindicated by the people of the United States last Tuesday, Mr. Gompers declared.

MAN BATTERED BECAUSE HE TOOK UP TOO MUCH ROOM IN BED

Just because Edward J. Winton took up too much of the bed which he occupied with Joseph Vigne in a room at 4 Tyler street, the latter pounded the beat of friends. According to Winton during the early hours of this morning and after Judge Enright heard the case in police court and saw the marks on Winton's face, Vigne was ordered to pay a fine of $5.

"How much time will you give me to pay the fine?" asked Vigne.

"I won't give you any time at all," responded the court.

According to the testimony presented the assault was wholly uncalled for by Judge Enright and the case was withdrawn from the jury but will be tried later. The ad damnum was $20,000.

The plaintiff claims that as he was leaving a train at the Bedford station on Feb. 19 last he slipped and fell on an icy walk, sustaining a fracture of the left knee cap. He was in bed for about two weeks. Kelly & Sheehan appeared for the plaintiff and Trull & Wier for the defense.

The cases of Wilbur C. and Carroll E. McIntyre of Burlington vs. Edmund and Eliza F. Leksd of North Andover and Brookline were given to the jury in the local session of superior court today. A sealed verdict will be opened tomorrow morning. One of the plaintiffs, Carroll, is alleged to have been bitten by a mad dog kept at the farm of the defendants. Carroll sues for personal injuries and the father to recover for expenses.

A big reduction is noted in the balance due the state this year over a year ago. In 1915 the city treasurer paid to the state the sum of $15,328.28. This year the city had to pay the state $16,670.56 and we received from the state treasury for various taxes $154,537.23.

The tax due the state was $21,100.70 and what Lowell received totaled $117,244.70. Thus Lowell will pay to the state this year $78,872.62 less than a year ago.

BRITISH VICTORY IN NEW DRIVE SOUTH OF ANCRE RIVER

The towns of Beaumont-Hamel and of Beaumont-Hamel in recent months of Saint-Pierre Divion, near the Ancre the main engagements have taken place below the Ancre. Sero, for British in a powerful new thrust begun this morning. A press despatch from British headquarters in France says fighting is still in progress and that 2000 prisoners have been taken.

OFFENSIVE ON BOTH SIDES

The offensive was inaugurated on both sides of the Ancre and represents an extension of the fighting front of the Somme region. Although there has been some fighting in the vicinity

In a broad sense, this salient extends some 18 miles northward to Arras, but whether the new British operation covers its entire breadth or whether merely an attempt is under way to crush in the southern section of it is not made plain by the official statement.

ABDUCTORS WITHDRAW APPEAL

STRIKE IF RAILROADS FAIL TO LIVE UP TO 8 HOUR LAW

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Failure of the railroads of the country to live up to the spirit and intent of the Adamson eight-hour law will result in the strike vote of the four big railroad brotherhoods being put into effect, it was announced here today by William G. Lee, head of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen after a three-hour conference between brotherhood and railway representatives.

The conference was called for the purpose of discussing and, if possible, arriving at some agreement or conclusion as to working out the provisions of the law, which goes into effect Jan. 1. The strike vote referred to by Mr. Lee is that taken prior to the conference between the railroad and brotherhood heads and President Wilson, and which was followed by the passage of the Adamson law after the brotherhoods had threatened to put the vote into effect at that time.

Mr. Lee added that any attempt at subterfuge by the railroads in putting into effect the eight-hour law will be met with instant action by the brotherhoods.

The brotherhoods' representatives said that they had worked out an interpretation of the eight-hour law but had refused to divulge the reasons that the roads or some of the roads had announced their decision to fight it through injunctions.

"A strike vote is still in effect," said Mr. Lee, "and if the railroads do not live up to the very spirit and intent of the law in accordance with their agreement, there is no reason why the brotherhoods should not take advantage of their strongest end. This time there is nothing that can stop them."

Mr. Lee added that any attempt at subterfuge by the railroads in putting into effect the eight-hour law will be met with instant action by the brotherhoods.

It was announced that the conference would resume its deliberations this afternoon.

CAPT. BROSNAN REMOVED TO HIS HOME

Captain James Brosnan, who was shot by Benjamin Buck near the Avery Chemical works at Wamesit Thursday, was removed from St. John's hospital to his home at 56 High street, today. He is much improved in condition and according to Dr. W. E. Smith, who attended him, is out of danger. While the majority of the shots were removed there are many shots in him at the present time and it is deemed advisable to remove them at this time.

Patrolman Aldrich, who was a victim of Buck's shooting, is at his home and is suffering considerable pain from a shot in the calf of the leg.

NO CLEARANCE PAPERS FOR DEUTSCHLAND

NEW LONDON, Conn., Nov. 13.—The approaching departure of the German submarine Deutschland for Germany was believed to be indicated by the taking on board today of large quantities of provisions, including a liberal supply of fresh meats. As local dealers are understood, however, to have other orders for delivery tomorrow, it is believed that it may be Wednesday before the big liner sets sail for those seaway. No clearance papers have been issued to Capt. Paul Koenig yet, it was stated this afternoon.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

BOSTON, Nov. 13.—The epidemic of infantile paralysis which overran the state for weeks has reached the vanishing point officials of the state department of health stated today. Only two cases were reported over the weekend while a month ago reports of 20 and 30 cases were made at similar times.

MAN KILLS DAUGHTER-IN-LAW AND SON AND SHOOTS HIMSELF

DUDLEY, Mass., Nov. 13.—Frank Deon, town counsel and tax collector of Dudley, shot and killed his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Robert Deon, fatally wounded his son, Robert Deon, and then attempted suicide today.

The wounded men were rushed 15 miles by ambulance to a Worcester hospital. Upon reaching the hospital Robert was dead. The father is not expected to live.

The shooting, according to Mrs. Deon, wife of the town counsel, grew recently out of her husband's excessive drinking.

Deon had taken an active part in the affairs of the town of Dudley for 20 years, and was widely known in the surrounding countryside. He was 47 years of age.

PRES. WILSON AT DESK TAKES UP IMPORTANT FOREIGN PROBLEMS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—President Wilson was back at his desk in the White House today after an absence of two months, prepared to take up important foreign problems which have been held in abeyance pending the election, as well as domestic questions. These included the German submarine situation, the Mexican problem and a number of federal appointments.

The president was expected to consider first the submarine situation, which is admittedly serious. A summary of recent developments in German submarine warfare, prepared by the state department, was ready to hand before him and in addition he probably soon will confer again with Ambassador Gerard on the situation.

The president has not even considered the question of changes in his cabinet, according to administrator officials, who characterized as premature reports that he had decided on such changes. It is possible, however, that one or two cabinet officers may not remain after March 4.

Although Mr. Wilson was tired out when he returned to the White House last night he was up early today and had breakfast before 8 o'clock. Im-

Charles E. Hughes maintained silence today at his hotel as to the election of Frank Costigan.

At the present time the building is in Warren street and is ready to be turned about to be landed on the rear of the fire house. After the clearance was made the work progressed rapidly under the supervision of Frank Costigan.

One of the peculiar facts in connection with the moving of the building is that the building is between eight and ten feet longer than the foundation and it will be necessary to cut away a portion of the building. At the present time it is not known whether the cut out will be made in the middle or at the end of the building, but presumably in the middle because of an old crack near the center.

I can enjoy myself again since Resino! Soap cleared my skin

When my complexion was red, rough and pimpy, I was so ashamed that I never had any fun. I imagined I must have looked ugly—perhaps they did!

So I used Resino! Soap just at first, to clear my skin, but my face was still not clean. I washed my face again, but it still wouldn't try it!

SINKU-BOAT WITH BRITISH CAPTAIN ON BOARD

BOSTON, Nov. 13.—How Captain Phelan of the Johnston liner Rowan more met his death aboard a German submarine, at the hands of his own countrymen, was a piece of news suppressed by the admiral censor, only to be related here yesterday by officers and crew of the British steamer Sagamore, 440 from Liverpool. According to the story, which up to the present had been guarded zealously from the press and wire service, both in this country and abroad, Capt. Phelan was taken prisoner when his ship was sunk by a submarine about two weeks ago, and locked in a cabin preparatory to being taken to Bremerhaven.

Less than an hour afterward the underwater boat was overwhelmed by a British cruiser, and without a word being exchanged from either side, was sent to the bottom with two British torpedoes in her. The incident was witnessed by members of the Rowanmore's crew, who reached Liverpool on the day the Sagamore sailed, and told their story to the Sagamore's men. They said that they had seen their captain go aboard a prisoner between two German officers, and that there was little doubt he had been killed.

The chief officer of the Rowanmore, who escaped with the rest of the crew, was closeted with the leading officials of the admiralty, immediately on his arrival in Britain. The captain of the British warship was also called to the conference.

A dispatch from Berlin via Sayville, received last night, said that the captain of the submarine that sank the Rowanmore had reported to the German admiralty. This contradicts the story of his having been sunk.

The suggestion was made to the Sagamore's officers yesterday that some sort of signal might have been exchanged between submarine and warship, by which the British captain's presence aboard might have been made known. It was their opinion, however, that signalling would have made no difference, and that the life of the captain would have been sacrificed rather than the submarine have a chance to get away.

TUBERCULOSIS IS DECREASING IN THIS STATE

Special to The Sun

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Nov. 13.—Tuberculosis is decreasing in Massachusetts, according to the monthly report of the state department of health issued today. "It is gratifying to find," the department says, "that the death rate from this disease during the ten years from 1895 to 1914 inclusive has in every year shown a decrease, except in the rural communities. For the entire state the death rate decreased from 1895 for each 100,000 of population in 1895 to 113.7 in 1914."

The department declares that while the present situation is encouraging, tuberculosis is a preventable disease, and there is still much educational work to be done, especially in the rural communities.

In the ten cities of the state having a population of more than 10,000, with an aggregate population of 4,896,630, or nearly one-half the inhabitants of the state, the decrease in the death rate for the ten years was 33.7, or slightly less than the decrease (42) noted for the entire state.

This showed that it is in the smaller cities and larger towns that the real effective work toward checked the disease has been accomplished, for the report states that in the communities having a population of 2500 or less the death rate took a sharp jump upward in 1899 and 1911.

"This apparent great increase was caused," it says, "by the opening of two new state sanatoria at North Reading and Lakeville. The deaths in these communities, now town with an aggregate population of 211,149, or about 7 per cent of the state, increased in the ten years from 38.1 to 47.4. It is, of course, difficult to give this as the death rate in rural communities in view of the facts that nearly all the deaths occurring in state sanatoria in these towns are of persons coming from places larger than the rural communities, and that the death is charged as not to the real place of residence but to the town in which the patient died."

BILLY SUNDAY OPENS CAMPAIGN IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Nov. 13.—Billy Sunday, evangelist, fired yesterday his first gun in a campaign that promises to be the greatest of his whirlwind career.

In the hundredth anniversary sermon, the largest building ever erected in this country for religious purposes, he addressed more people than he had ever faced under one roof at any time in his life—and more people than were ever before gathered together in New England.

In all, there were some 52,000 admissions to the great wooden tabernacle, in the total of an estimated attendance of 100,000 persons at each of the three meetings, morning, afternoon and evening.

The great audience poured into the collection pews a total of $327,355.

Mr. Sunday opened his first sermon with vigor. As the day waned he waded in fervor, and as the evening session he wound up his speech with a ringing sentence today, of his evils which infect society today. At the meeting, meeting he climbed still higher, and defied his critics from the top of the desk. And his astonished adherents will not be overawed with amazement if tomorrow he has a remission from the lofty elevation of the sounding board above the platform.

While Billy and, of course, Eve cut out all slang since coming to "Boston," here are a few of his expressions, taken from yesterday's sermons:

You have to do something more than whistling and say amen. I don't want to make a bum Protestant out of a good Catholic or a bum Catholic out of a good Protestant.

Because you may wear a diamond as big as a hickory nut in your shirt front doesn't make you any better.

At Pentecost one sermon saved 3000 people, now it takes 3000 to get one old butter-milk-saved, red-nosed, whisky-soaked blisphemer.

There is so much organization in the church that you can hear the machinery squeak, but we haven't got enough of the Holy Ghost to grease one axle of God's chariot.

I believe that God Almighty can do something; don't whine around as though God was a corpse, ready for the undertaker. God is still on the job.

It is mighty easy to lie about a man when he isn't on the job. I'm here now. Come on, and I'll deliver the goods, express paid.

A lot of you preachers are going off about social service.

The only Scriptural ground for a divorce is adultery. When it comes to Catholic from the top of my head to the ends of my toes.

Some people are so tight that if you asked them to sing "Old Hundred" they would sing "99" and save one per cent.

I got a temper like a sheet-iron stove; a bunch of shavings and a match will make it red hot in two minutes.

1000 POOR FED TO MILK CONTROVERSY IN THIS STATE SETTLED

BOSTON, Nov. 13.—The controversy over the wholesale price of milk in the local market, which had caused many farmers throughout New England to refuse to ship their product to Boston dealers for the past six weeks, was regarded as solved today. The directors of the New England Milk Producers' Association, who had recommended withdrawal of milk from this city until their price was met, sent to the farmers a letter based on a vote taken last night to accept the concessions offered by the dealers.

These are said to represent a minimum advance of four cents on each $1.25 quart can. At the same time a call was issued for a conference of all New England dairy interests to be held at Springfield, Nov. 28, to form a general organization.

his fine tuning and explained that he was ready to keep his vow made a score of years ago.

"How many immigrants have you now here?" he asked. He was told about 200.

"Not enough," he declared. "Go out into the neighborhood. I want to feed any number up to 1000, perhaps more if you can get them."

Nearly 1000 poor were fed at his expense between 1 p.m. and midnight.

BODY FOUND IN WOODS

The skeleton of a man was found in the woods off the Mammoth road in Pelham Saturday by Howard H. Chase. The latter was hunting at the time and came across the remains.

The flesh was all gone but a few shreds of the clothing remained. He noticed the authorities and Medical Referee E. V. Moran of Nashua went to the scene.

The skeleton was found on what was formerly the James Butler farm. The remnants of clothing remaining about him consisted of pieces of heavy weight underclothes, heavy woolen stockings, a gray sweater, black coat and vest, overalls and cap, but all in decayed fragments. One pair of shoes and rubbers, about size 9, covered the bones of the feet. What was thought to be a small wisp of gray hair was discovered under the skull. Two front teeth were missing from the upper jaw while all other teeth were in good condition.

is even said that the Russians have succeeded in crossing the Danube at two points south of Tchernavoda which, if correct, would mean that von Mackensen's army was being taken in the rear or that he had been forced back from the Constantza-Tchernavoda railway line. His force is said to be demoralized from reverses, heavy losses, disease and lack of reinforcements.

Constantza Bombed

The Black sea port of Constantza is reported again under fire of the Russian fleet.

The recent Siberian victory in Macedonia appears, from the entente accounts, to have been a brilliant one. Paris reports that the Germans and Bulgarians were pushed back nearly two miles in the Cerna river region southeast of Monastir in a two-day battle and they lost 1000 men in prisoners. Confidential accounts announce an additional Serbian success to the north along the bend of the river, carrying the closing in movement on monastir still further.

Official Berlin today reports that entente artillery was yesterday shelling Tchernavoda in Dobrudja from across the Danube.

Tentonic Progress

Tentonic progress continues on the Transylvanian border of Rumania, the German statement declares. Three towns were captured, numerous attacks by the Romanians were repulsed and more than 1000 prisoners were taken.

The French, according to Berlin, opened an offensive yesterday in Upper Alsace but were defeated in their attempts to advance. German artillery, it is declared, broke up entente efforts to gain ground in the Somme area.

Berlin Reports Success

Today's German official statement, besides indicating that Field Marshal von Mackensen is still in possession of the Tchernavoda-Constantza railway line, declares that hostile forces advancing down the Danube in Dobrudja were driven back.

Regarding the fighting along the Transylvanian border, Bucharest reports the Romanians as holding their own in an all-day battle northeast of Campulung but being compelled to retire under pressure on the right bank of the river Alt.

German Raiders Sink

Swift German torpedo boats made a raid into the Gulf of Finland, along the water route to Petrograd Friday last, and bombarded the coast at an unnamed point for a short time. The Russian official statement today announcing this raid says that a majority of the raiders, which were 36-knot torpedo craft, were sunk. There were a dozen killed or wounded in the bombardment, the killed including five children, according to the statement.

TWO SUCCESSFUL ALLIED AIR RAIDS CARRIED OUT IN EGYPT

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Two successful air raids have been carried out by aircraft operating with the British forces in Egypt, says an official announcement today. The points raided were Maghdaba and Birsha. A ton of high explosives was dropped. The Fokker machines were brought down by the raiding airplanes, all of which returned safely.

ADVANCED FOR BRITISH IN NEW OFFENSIVE ON SOMME

LONDON, Nov. 13, 4:45 p. m.—The British troops in their new offensive south of the Acre river have advanced to a maximum depth of one mile capturing from the Germans the towns of Beaumont-Hamel and Saint Pierre Division, according to the correspondent of Reuters' Telegram Co., at British headquarters.

Fighting is still going on between the German and British troops around the town of Serre, about two miles north of Beaumont-Sainte. Two thousand prisoners already have been taken by the British.

BERLIN REPORTS ATTEMPTS OF ALLIES TO ADVANCE ON SOMME

BERLIN, Nov. 13, by wireless to Saville—Attempts of the entente troops to advance between the Acre and the Somme yesterday were broken up by German artillery fire, the war office announced today.

In the town of Sainly-Salliseil, according to the statement, the German forces continue to hold the east edge of the town. The text of the statement reads:

Field Marshal von Mackensen is returning continuing his retreat with demoralized forces and with one-third of his effectiveness lost.

The ravages of disease and the military reverses sustained are declared the Petrograd advices to have severely affected the morale of von Mackensen's army while the reinforcements he requested to make up his losses are said not to have been provided, his retreat therefore being conducted under disastrous conditions.

A. F. OF L. CONVENTION ANNUAL REPORT READ

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 13.—The 36th annual convention of the American Federation of Labor opened a two weeks' session here today. Cardinal Gibbons delivered the invocation, and addresses of welcome were made by Acting Mayor Hubert, Gov. E. C. Harrington and President J. H. Ferguson of the Baltimore delegation. President Samuel Gompers of the national organization responded.

THE ANNUAL REPORT

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 13.—Organized labor's activities in the field of legislation, international politics and domestic affairs during the last year were set forth at length in the annual report of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, presented here today to the federation's thirty-sixth annual convention.

The membership of the federation is given as 2,671,836 on September 30, the close of the fiscal year, an increase of about 125,000 over the previous year and at more than $300,000 in the nineteen years of its existence. There are 22,511 local unions in the federation and 45 state federations. Receipts for the year are shown at $104,101 with a cash balance at its close of $89,361.

The report closes with a plea to workers to continue their efforts for better conditions through organization and co-operation.

"There are opening up before the labor movement," it says, "tremendous opportunities to mold and influence the foundation of economic, social and political organization. It is fitting to call attention to our well known slogan which represents the way by which present progress was achieved—Agitate! Educate! Organize!—much has already been achieved through organization and the toilers are just beginning to realize the great opportunities that lie before them; only through better and stronger organization can all enter that heritage."

It is but fitting that we should express our deep appreciation of the respect and confidence manifested toward us by the great rank and file of the organized labor movement of America and by the liberty, humanity loving people of the continent. Never in history as now has there existed such feeling and spirit of unity, solidarity and fraternity. It all argues well not only for the well being of the people of our own time, but all the people for all time."

In discussing international labor relations, the report speaks of the effort to have a world labor congress held at the time and place of the holding of a world peace congress at the end of the European war, and the rejection of the suggestion by organized labor in Great Britain and Germany which "unnecessarily requires that our proposition be abandoned." This attitude led to the adoption of this suggestion by the council.

"Since the first proposal submitted by the A. F. of L. to the labor organizations of Europe has been definitely rejected by them, we suggest that the organized labor movements of those countries that shall participate in the general peace conference to determine terms and conditions of peace at the close of the war, shall urge upon them their respective governments that the wage earners shall be represented in the official commission from their respective countries. The same policy ought to be pursued also by organized labor movements of neutral countries if it shall be determined that neutral countries also will participate in the general peace conference. Thus, representative wage earners would be seated with other representatives of the nations in general conferences connected with the formulation of peace terms. In this way, the ideals and needs of wage earners would be presented and considered by the general official body."

In discussing Pan-American labor relations, the report details conferences in Washington last summer between President Gompers and other officers of the American Federation and representatives of organized labor in Mexico, when the relations between the two countries were "most critical." The report suggests that a Pan-American Federation "is not only possible but necessary."

"When conditions had arisen that seemed to make war between the United States and Mexico inevitable," continues the report, "the understanding between the labor movements of the United States and Mexico took on more definite form and was again instrumental in throwing light upon the influences and the agents that were trying to create war sentiment and the seeming necessity for intervention in the affairs of Mexico, and was able to help bring about an adjustment of misunderstandings without resorting to war."

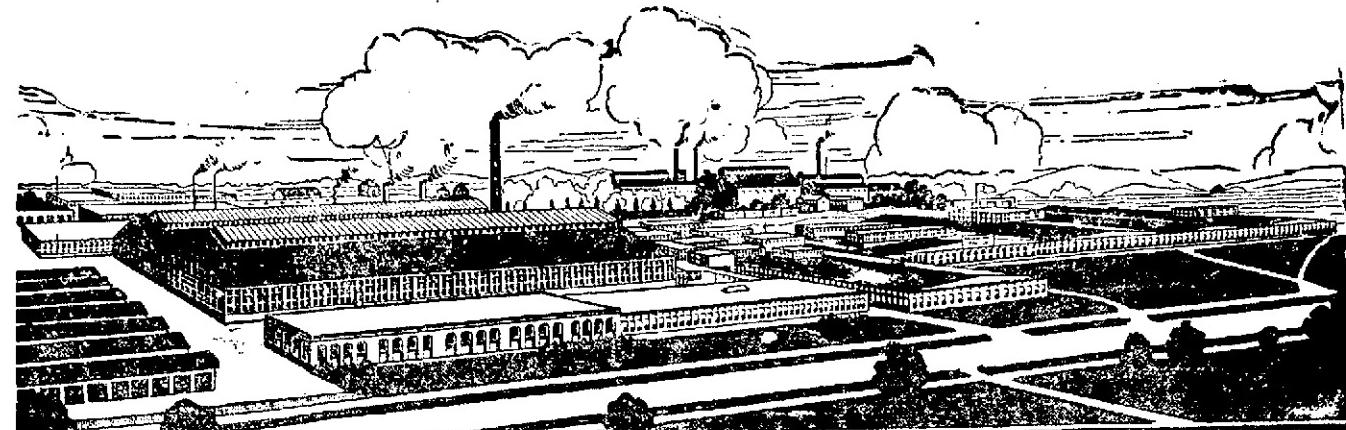

The report details the conferences and tells of the ultimatum sent to General Carranza by the United States supreme court immediate release of American soldiers captured at Carrizal. "It was at this time," the report goes on, "that a request was made to President Gompers that he make a personal appeal to general Carranza to release the United States soldiers. The telegram asking release "in the name of common justice and humanity and a better understanding between the two countries" and to avoid "the horrors of war" was recited and the report goes on to say that same evening extra papers announced General Carranza had issued an order releasing the American soldiers."

The conferences, the report says, led to an understanding which made more general "the feeling that the people of Mexico knew what they wanted, understood their peculiar problems and had a right to work out their own salvation in accord with their own ideals."

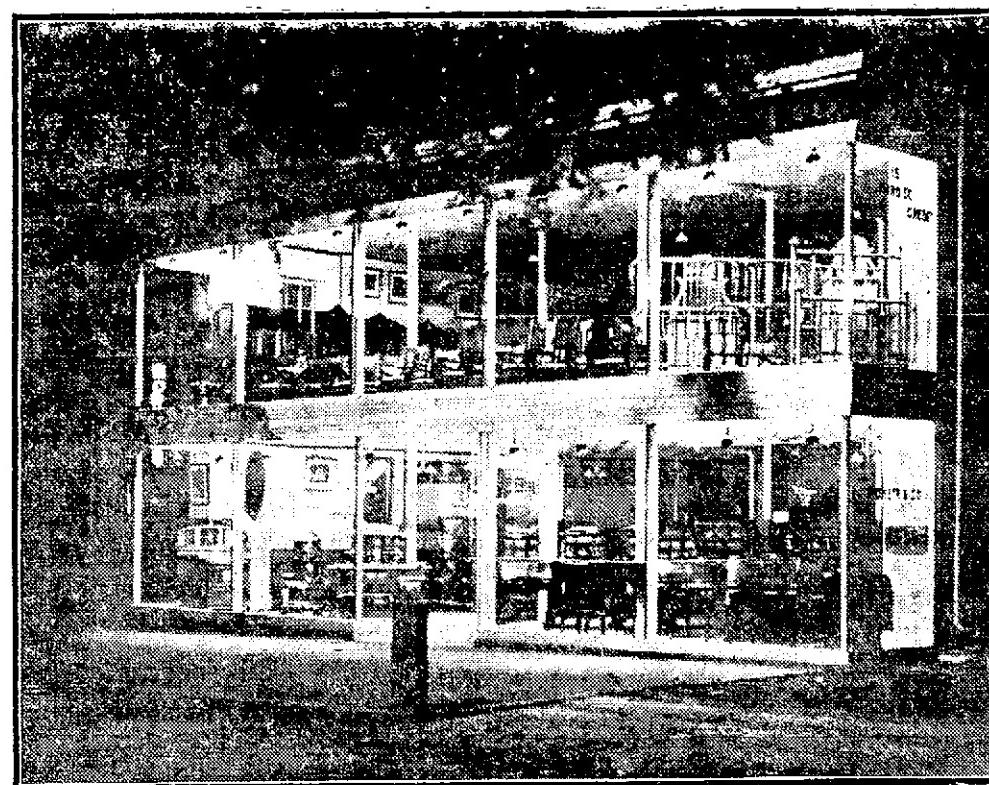

Reviewing anti-trust and injunction regulation the report says:

BOSTON, Nov. 13.—Miss Lettie R. Moore of Cambridge, a teacher of manual training in the Boston public schools, was in a serious condition at the Massachusetts General Hospital last night, suffering from injuries received when an automobile overturned and rolled into a ditch in Roxbury. Three other teachers, one of them her brother, Edward Moore, master of the Fessenden Preparatory School at Newton, were injured in the accident.

Contributions to help the Cambridges pay the damages to Dr. E. L. Lewis and company in connection with the successful anti-trust suit against their organization were announced at $15,000.

A splendid record of achievement in legislation, through activities of the federation, by positive participation in politics for the purpose of securing the election of those in favor of the aims of the labor movement and the defeat of those who had demonstrated their hostility to the cause of labor," is set forth in detail.

In connection with proposed vocational legislation the report recommends that any board created to administer such a law be non-partisan in character and represent agriculture, labor, commerce, industry and education and that it not be permitted to become a mere political adjunct of the party in power."

The right of labor to participation in matters affecting it is insisted upon with the statement: "The basis for representation and participation in the affairs of organized society is man, not property. The workers, the masses of the people, therefore, have a right to participate and will insist upon this participation in the determination and control of all that concerns their lives and the lives of generations yet to come."

Objection to government censorship of moving pictures is registered on the ground that it would interfere with proper freedom of expression and action and the rank and file of the federation is asked to support this view.

The opposition of the organization to compulsory social insurance is detailed as requiring something to be done for workers without compelling them, which would prevent workers doing these things for themselves and maintaining their own institutions.

Contributions to help the Cambridges pay the damages to Dr. E. L. Lewis and company in connection with the successful anti-trust suit against their organization were announced at $15,000.

Special efforts have been directed to the organization of women workers and attention has been paid to organizations of boys and girls to train them in the fundamentals of unionism.

WOMAN ROBBER AT WORK IN HAVERHILL

HAVERHILL, Nov. 13.—Haverhill fears it has a woman burglar operating within its precincts. A woman's footprint found in the mud outside a forced rear window of a local restaurant yesterday morning, together with the discovery that the cash register in the front of the place had been rifled during the night, led the police to this belief.

If it was a woman burglar she is a bold one for in great measure what is stolen here in the restaurant business goes home to the robbery must have passed to touch the cash register. How the thief got by the dog is a mystery to the police.

FOUR TEACHERS HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

LAUREDO, Texas, Nov. 13.—An indiscriminate massacre of nearly 100 women, children and Carranza soldiers who were travelling on a train near Contreras, state of Morelos, which was attacked by Zapata followers is reported in Mexico City newspapers received here yesterday.

After the attack on the train, the dead lay in piles beside the cars, the papers state.

Only one person so far as known escaped death at the hands of the bandits. He was Captain Antonio Flores.

The attack occurred Nov. 7. A passenger train, convoyed by a military train eight kilometers in advance, was halted in a mountain wilderness after the military train had been allowed to pass unopposed.

For 15 minutes the Zapistas kept up the slaughter, slaying men and women who prayed for mercy and killing the babies who accompanied their mothers, the papers declare.

Soldiers aboard the passenger train were without their accoutrements and unable to offer any resistance. In the list of dead given in the Mexican City papers is the name of Colonel Garido Alvaro, two majors and three captains.

OBJECT TO GARAGE

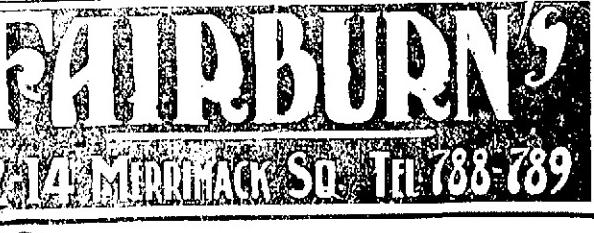

BOSTON, Nov. 13.—Several hundred remonstrants will attend a hearing morning at the street commissioners' room to protest against the granting of a permit to build a garage at the corner of East Cottage street and Columbia road, Dorchester.

The remonstrants claim that the district is purely residential, and as the site of the proposed building is adjacent to the Strandway it will be "unpleasant."

NEW POLITICAL ALIGNMENT

The changed political aspect of this country is now engaging the attention of politicians of all parties. The political centre of gravity has shifted and California rather than New York is now the pivotal state. There is a fresh split between the republicans and the progressives and one that can never be closed until the "Old Guard" is eliminated. There is also another factor to be eliminated—it is Theodore Roosevelt. Some are so far mistaken as to claim that had he been the candidate in the recent election, he would have beaten Wilson. So far from this being true, the fact is that Roosevelt perhaps more than any other single factor caused the defeat of Mr. Hughes.

There will undoubtedly be a reorganization of the republican party on new lines and if any candidates are at this early day being picked, there is one man who stands pre-eminently above all others—United States Senator-Elect Hiram Johnson of California who carried the state by 200,000. The country will never again show any confidence in Roosevelt. He is a political hoodoo and a man who if elevated to any high federal office would be a menace to the peace and welfare of this nation.

TROUBLE WITH GERMANY

There are now two cases in which German submarines may have overstepped the limits set by President Wilson in his strict accountability note. If after due investigation it be found that Germany has violated international law in sinking any American ship or in causing the loss of American lives, then will President Wilson apply the power resting in his hands as chief executive of this republic to deal with Germany in a manner that will convince her that we mean business in asserting our rights as a neutral nation.

TRADE AFTER THE WAR

Previous to election there was a great deal of republican talk about the danger of European trade competition after the war. It was alleged that European nations now at war were getting ready to swamp us with their manured products. Those nations will be in a condition to do much in line of manufacturing for a long time after the war.

England, however, is apparently getting ready to supplant Germany in the markets of certain countries in Europe and South America. That may concern us to the extent that we may meet her there as a competitor rather than upon our own shores. This "after the war dumping" bogey served its purpose in the republican campaign. But it had no substantial bottom. Congress has made provision for such an emergency. But the foreign field is another proposition for which the republicans made no provision. It remained for the democratic party to take steps to establish a merchant marine to conduct our foreign commerce.

In that light this country will rise to a state of national prosperity that would be impossible under the narrow republican policy of protection that drove the American flag off the high seas.

England has started schools for instruction in the Russian language, Spanish and Portuguese. It is understood that she will have trade preference at least over Germany and Austria in Russian territory; and she is preparing to make the most of it. She will also try to supplant Germany in some of the South American republics with which the Germans did considerable business. This may concern us more particularly, yet we must realize that neither England nor the United States can supply even fairly decent substitutes for the line of toys and other specialties which Germany sold to this country and the southern republics.

BAY STATE LEADS

Massachusetts keeps up her industrial lead in the textile and shoe industries according to a recent bulletin issued by the census bureau at Washington. The value of her products in cotton in 1914 was $156,000,000, the nearest competitor being North Carolina with $155,000,000. It appears that the output of this southern state is rapidly growing. In the shoe industry, also, the Bay State holds even greater pre-eminence, the annual production being valued at $100,000,000 while New York, her nearest rival, produces $67,000,000 worth. In woolens, Massachusetts doubles the output of Pennsylvania, her nearest competitor, the amounts being $127,000,000 and $62,000,000 respectively. Although southern competition in the cotton industry was greatly feared by New England some years ago, it does not seem to have asserted itself with such rapidity as was expected. Some of the more prosperous mills of the south are controlled by New England companies.

REVERSING CIVILIZATION

While the European nations at war continue to slaughter their armies, the sociologists at home are busy working out a plan for the introduction of polygamy to afford husbands for the surplus of unmarried women who will number nearly two to one for the ten years succeeding the war. It is rather strange that these sociologists should have no other suggestion to meet the situation. Why not offer inducement to young men of other countries to immigrate? It is alleged that after the Thirty Years war which ended with the peace of Westphalia in 1648, polygamy was legalized in some of the German states. This would be a step backward in civilization.

PARTY ENROLMENT

It seems that as a result of the misleading form in which the question appeared on the ballot, there has been a popular majority in favor of a return to party enrollment. Thus a democratic reform secured after long discussion and deliberation, has been reversed. It is a step backward.

STATE WIDE PROHIBITION

As a result of Tuesday's election several states will go over to the dry column. Unless the returns are revised these states will be Michigan, Nebraska, Montana, and South Dakota, like the cause of woman suffrage, being valued at $100,000,000 while New York, her nearest rival,

FINE OF $150

Judge Bright's imposing a $150 fine for a motorcyclist for reckless speed will cause others to take notice. Those vehicles of late have been more of a menace on the streets than are the automobiles.

CANDIDATE HUGHES

Candidate Hughes will now return to the practice of law and President Wilson will have to fill his place on the supreme bench of the United States. In that body are at least three members who are likely soon to retire on account of age. White, McKeon and Holmes. The president may have to fill their places also.

THE DAY

The day is here when the world has good reason to rejoice that this rampant political disturber has been effectively eliminated from American politics. He pulled down the repub-lean temple and was buried in the rains.

Of all the garrulous college professors, perhaps Munsterberg of Harvard is the worst. It will be a great relief to the reading public when he follows Theodore Roosevelt into public silence.

The voters of this state by a sweeping majority expressed their desire for a constitutional convention. Therefore, come what will, a convention we shall have.

Still the United States refuses to elect to the presidency a man with whiskers, however well trimmed.

Seen and Heard

Many a man on the road to fortune does not know at what station to get off.

A new cure for ulcerosis has been discovered in silk. It is asserted that all one has to do is to keep silent for a year to regain health. Some folks say we know world and the cure worse than the disease.

The following conversation took place over the telephone Wednesday night:

Mr. Z.—"Is the Sun's bulletin declaring the election of Wilson correct?"

Courier-Citizen—"No, indeed; it is not correct."

Mr. Z.—"Who does it look like for president?"

Courier-Citizen—"Hughes will be elected."

Nuff sed.

Followed Advice

The grocer had just put a new boy to work, and among the other instructions was this:

"If you don't happen to have what a customer asks for, suggest something else as nearly like it as possible."

Soon a woman came into the store and asked the boy: "Have you any fresh green stuff today?"

"No, ma'am," answered the boy, "but we have some nice bluing."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Sure Thing

Said Theodore Roosevelt on Tuesday evening: "Because of some charge that have been made, I wish to state now that I will not under any circumstances make any recommendations to Mr. Hughes with reference to appointments or to his legislative policy."

And sure enough he will not. Told the colonel have a presentation when he uttered those words, that all was not well with the G.O.P. cause—Boston Post.

He Proved It

During the recitation of a college class in natural philosophy, the professor observed a tall, lanky youth in a seat, his head drooping, his body relaxed, his eyes half closed, and his legs splayed in an adjacent aisle.

Mr. Fraser opened his eyes slowly, but did not change his pose.

"Mr. Fraser, what is work?"

"Everything is work," was the drowsy reply.

"Silly," exclaimed the professor, "do you mean to tell me that is a reasonable answer to my question?"

"Yes, sir,"

Then I take it that you would like me and the class to believe that this desk is work?"

"Yes, sir," replied the youth, weakly.

"It is woodwork,"—The Christian Herald.

The Chronic Candidate

Talking about elections, have you seen him yet—the chronic candidate?

If not, by these signs shall you know him:

"He'll come up to you on the street or in the corridor or in the church porch with glad hand outstretched and petrified smile. He'll tell you that he has never seen you look so well that he bears very good report about your success in business, that your mother is the finest woman in Operation not Necessary after Taking the Great Medicine for Women.

Miller's Falls, Mass.—"Doctors paid

I had displacement very badly and I would have to have an operation. I had a soreness in both sides and a pulling sensation in my right side. I could not do much work the pain was so bad. I was also troubled with irregularity and other weaknesses.

My blood was poor. We had been married four years and had no children.

After using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier I became well and strong and was saved from the operation. We are now the parents of a big baby girl and I praise your remedies to others and give you permission to publish my letter," Mrs. Joseph Guillaud, Jr., Bridge Street, Miller's Falls, Mass.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is famous for restoring women to normal health and strength. When this is done wives no longer despair of having children.

A woman should be reluctant to submit to a surgical operation unless she has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a fair trial. It is an actual fact that many women have escaped an operation by taking this grand old medicine. Try it anyway, we have the money to pay for it.

ST. JOSEPH'S CONVENT HAS ANNIVERSARY

Yesterday marked the 33d anniversary of the opening of St. Joseph's school since it was opened. St. Joseph's convent is a monument to the memory of the late Rev. Andre Garin, O.M.I., first pastor and exercises were held in the school to M. Garin, O.M.I., first pastor and day, but inasmuch as the large assembly hall on the top floor of the building has been converted into classrooms, the exercises were held in the various rooms, the programs consisting of songs and recitations. The course of the day, the club was erected about 15 years after the founding of St. Joseph's parish, further classes had been conducted in the basement of St. Joseph's church number of years. It was opened by the visit of the Rev. Dr. J. H. Racette, O.M.I., who spoke interestingly on the work performed by the school since its inception. Rev. Sister St. Charles, superior of the school also addressed the children on Nov. 12, 1888 and the first sister in charge of the school was Rev. Sister Plante, who returned again as the head of the institution three years ago. Last year she was called to another field and her place is now being filled by Sister St. Charles.

The boys and girls of the parish as well as a few English speaking children received their education at the school for about ten years or until St. Joseph's college in Merrimack street was erected, this school being for the boys and in charge of the Marist Brothers. Despite the fact that the college took away about $600 boys, after a few years the school was found inadequate and private residences in the vicinity of the convent were purchased by the parish and converted into schools.

Home for Sisters

A home for the sisters was built on a piece of land fronting the school building, but some four years ago this building was moved across the street.

LADY LOOKABOUT

LADY LOOKABOUT

Often I have heard of the "Agony Column" conducted by the London Times, and often I have laughed at specimens of advertisements which have appeared in it and wondered if some jocose scribe had not exaggerated them. If indeed he had not invented them altogether.

A short time ago I came across a copy of The Nashville Tennesseean and the Nashville American, in which I found a column which strengthened my weak belief in the Agony Column. The Nashville sheet supports a "Swappers' Column." An announcement by the management informs the reader that an advertisement will be inserted three times payment to be made at the rate of five cents a reply. "If there are no answers it costs you nothing. You may offer for exchange anything except real estate for anything except money." Then you are cordially invited to use the column often as you please, as it is for your convenience.

Every advertisement in the column employs the word "swap," in another column is published the names of those for whom answers are held at the office of the paper.

Here are a few samples chosen at random from among over twenty-five:

Wanted: To swap an old violin, 50 years old, in the pink of condition for a grave-stone or bed-head.

For Swap: Quick! An automobile in good condition for a good large horse or a cheap house and lot that will rent.

Wanted: To swap 2 Rhode Island Red cockerels for 2 Barred Rock hens.

Wanted: To swap a thoroughbred terrier pup for a diamond or hummer.

There should be a suggestion here for local newspapers, just noticeable much more you can ask for than you often.

Some Quarantine Oddities

Often the inconsistency used in isolating contagious and infectious diseases, the rigorous methods to prevent their spread in one direction and the absolute disregard of precautions in another, both in connection with the same case, lead one to wonder that there are not more epidemics. I have in mind a diphtheria case. The house of the patient has been duly disinfected. The brothers and sisters of the patient have been excluded from school. The books, papers and pencils of the child have been destroyed.

The chair and desk have been thoroughly disinfected. The school children have been warned, through the notice from the board of health, not to go near the house. On the other hand, working members in the family of the patient have kept on working. Each day they mingle freely with the public. They ride in the street cars; their money is accepted without question; the occupation of one member brings him into frequent contact with small children. If there be a solution to this apparent inconsistency I should very much like to know it.

that only polar bears and the owners of raccoon coats were allowed the privilege.

While I gritted my teeth and chewed germs with all my might, the wind suddenly shifted to southeast. Gladly would I have recalled the north wind at that moment, had I been able, for immediately we were submerged, glutted, nauseated with an atmospheric deluge from the rendering company's plant in South Lowell. Years ago, I remember seeing my father, with a grimness which we youngsters thoroughly respected, affix his signature to a neighborhood petition, begging that this nuisance might be abated. The petition was most politely worded, for well the petitioners knew the revenge that would be the company's if we attacked it. The response was an equally politely worded acquiescence to the request, and there everything hallowed—that is, everything save the nuisance which still engulfed us when the wind became southeast.

Surely, all the hearts in Dillerwood must be grieved when the wind blows to toward Lowell.

The next morning a mild south wind, bearing a suggestion of early spring, met us, and many hearts were glad.

Gradually it bore to the west, bringing the delightfully zestful odor of burning grass and leaves.

Soon the wind, now full west, brought a new odor. It was a combination of hops and malt, and I knew at once that the Harvard Brewery was having its brewing.

As I passed from the shed through the backyard to the kitchen door, bearing a pair of pants for a me for supper, our hired man was despondently preparing kindling for the morning. On the instant I saw him raise his head and snuff the air like a warchorse at the smell of gunpowder.

"It's all up with the kindling," I thought as I hurried past.

"Do they hire much help for the winter at the brewery, do you know?" innocently he asked.

Inwardly I trembled for the fate of the white ribbon I had pinned on his vest a few days before, to the accompaniment of promises, voluble and from the depths of his soul. Outwardly, I answered as innocently as he had asked:

"I don't believe they do. I have been told they keep a waiting list with hundreds of names."

"Sure, I might have known it," he returned in a disconsolate tone, resuming his monotonous task.

I trust my guardian angel was discreetly deaf at the moment of my birth.

Breathless I started to take Plant Juice, which gave me immediate relief and built my system right up. My stomach is in such good condition that I can eat any kind of food, sleep well and am glad to say that Plant Juice has cured me of my troubles. It is certainly a great medicine!"

CARRIGAN MAY AGAIN LEAD RED SOX

BOSTON, Nov. 13.—Bill Carrigan will be manager of the Red Sox in 1917—that is, he will be if Harry Frazee and Hugh Ward are ready to pay the price.

From reliable sources it is learned that, while Bill is sincere in his determination to quit, there is a salaried point at which he might suddenly become very much interested in his old job. It may be said that Carrigan hardly believes at present that the new owners will reach this mark in their negotiations. It is a figure in excess of what the Giants have been paying John McGraw and as the posses- sive have placed the Little Napoleon's salary at anywhere from $20,000 to $30,000, it is easy to see what the Frazee-Ward combination has to shoot at.

INDIANS WIN FROM U.S.S. GEORGIA, 21 TO 0

The Indians completely outplayed the U.S.S. Georgia eleven at Bunting park Saturday afternoon. The score was 21 to 0. There was a good sized crowd present and the fans were given plenty of opportunity to cheer. Two of the Indians' touchdowns were made by R. Connell, the rightend. The Indians' backfield played sensational football. The line-up and summary:

RIVET GETS FINE SENDOFF

George Rivet, the Canadian welter-weight champion, who has been in Lowell for the past few weeks, was given a royal sendoff by local friends when he left for Quebec last evening. About 150 friends accompanied him to the railroad station. The Jolly Five gave several selections, and Rivet was cheered continually. He is to meet Danny Field of New York in Quebec Friday night.

GRAND CIRCUIT RACING

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 13.—A proposal to eliminate Grand Circuit racing at Charter Oak Park in the future is expected to come up for consideration at the annual meeting of the Connecticut Fair association here Nov. 20. The races have been run in connection with the fair each fall.

Those who oppose continuance of the big meeting assert that since the anti-betting laws became effective horsemen have lost interest which has had a bad effect on the quality of the racing and they claim the association would do better to open its track to racing such as that held at Goshen and Middletown, N. Y. Active opposition to the proposal is expected, however.

dent, and one of the few real tragedies of the remaining old school. "The Iron Woman," a vehicle exceptionally well suited to her personality, was written especially for her. In "Fatima Myrra" she plays a remarkable part seemingly well in all her earlier subjects she has appeared in, but one thing stands out in the story. She is a broad and commanding character, while Jane Hayden, Miss Morrison, James Cagney, Millard Vincent, Gertrude Sharpe, Gladys McLeod, David Baker, Frank Wright, Robert East, and other members of the cast are well known to the average in which Miss O'Neill has appeared. POLICEMAN KILLS MAN IN DUEL

MARBLEHEAD, Nov. 13.—William G. Avery, a contractor, is dead, and Patrolman Reuben C. Paine was reported in a serious condition last night, the result of an attempt to place Avery under arrest for abusing his mother yesterday afternoon. Each man shot the other.

Avery submitted quietly to arrest and walked from his mother's home with Patrolman Paine. At the gate he snatched a .32 revolver pistol from his pocket and shot the patrolman over the heart. Paine staggered, fell to his knees and put his own pistol.

Avery turned his gun again and the first shot from the officer's gun struck him in the right arm. Paine struggled to his feet and fired again. His second shot struck Avery in the breast and the latter dropped unconscious in the street. Paine ran across the street to telephone for assistance, then fainted and rolled into the gutter.

When Chief of Police Goodwin and another policeman who had been summoned by the terrified neighbors arrived, both patrolman and prisoner were unconscious in the street. They were rushed in the same ambulance to the Salem hospital.

Chief Goodwin sat guard at the bedside of Avery until 8:30 last night, when he died. At midnight Paine's name was on the dangerous list.

Refreshments were served. The soldier boys told interesting stories of their experiences at the border and assured their friends that they were very glad to be home again. A musical program was carried out and everybody spent a very pleasant evening.

LETTER OF THANKS

To the Voters of Middlesex County:

I am deeply grateful to the voters of the county for their splendid support of my candidacy for District Attorney at the polls on November 7.

I am conscious of a debt of gratitude which can be paid only by the rendering of the best possible service within my power.

Respectfully yours,

Nathan A. Tufts.

The indications are that this leakage will still further reduce with continued use of the filters, and I therefore see no reason why the balance of five per cent. on the contract of the Charles R. Gow Co., which has been held pending the observation of the leakage of filters, should not now be paid, and I am therefore enclosing certificate of such payment.

I am also enclosing statement of balance due me, based on expenditure taken from the books of your department and including a balance of the Gow contract, to which I am now certifying.

Yours very truly,

F. A. Barbour.

"There is not one village in France where the people do not expect our French military writer, Capt. Philippe Millet, calling on Great Britain to take over more of the western front and relieve the French."

Capt. Millet says it is necessary to speak plainly; that the allegiance of Great Britain and France cannot be based on a mere exchange of compliments and that all Frenchmen are wondering whether the English fully realize what is happening in France. He says the French recognize gratefully what Great Britain has already done but feels that the time has come for the British army to relieve the French more efficiently.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—In a letter to President Wilson, made public today, Thomas F. Flaherty, secretary and treasurer of the National Federation of Postoffice Clerks, entered a protest against working postoffice clerks more than eight hours a day. The letter calls the attention of the president to the fact that a law passed by congress provides that clerks shall not be required to work more than eight hours a day, within ten hours, and for working in excess of this are to be paid overtime in proportion to their salaries.

"This law contemplated that only in emergencies should more than eight hours be required," Mr. Flaherty said in his letter. "Yet in many of the large postoffices, notably New York, Chicago, Boston and Cleveland, the clerks are forced daily and night to work 10, 11 and even 12 hours."

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Nov. 13.—Lowell's treasury will receive nearly $13,000 more than last year in the 1916 distribution of the corporate franchise tax, according to figures made public today by Tax Commissioner William D. T. Tracy. Last year the city received only $7,612.21, while this year it will get $83,567.30.

There is also a very pleasant surprise in store for residents of Carlisle and Dracut. Neither of these towns received anything in last year's distribution of the tax, but this year Carlisle will receive $646.03, while Dracut will get $2230.75.

Chesterfield, however, will lose nearly $9000, receiving only $631.75 this year, while last year the payment to this town was $1,646.35. Bedford also drops from $393.69 to $173.45, while Tewksbury drops from $2195.52 to $1028.33. Billerica shows a gain from $1792.64 to $2729.61, and Westford from $9503.87 to $12,103.57.

The business corporation franchise tax is a very complicated affair, and its assessment and distribution is accomplished only after months of tireless effort on the part of a large corps of clerks in the tax commissioner's department. The first step in the assessment is to determine the fair market value of the outstanding stock of each business corporation in the state. Next the commissioner ascertains from assessors' reports the valuation upon which each corporation has paid a tax locally. If the latter amount is the smaller, he deducts it from the value of the stock, as previously determined, and the difference is deemed to be the value of the corporate franchise of the corporation.

Next he determines the average rate at which property is taxed throughout the commonwealth, again using the local assessors' figures, and upon the value of the corporate franchise of each corporation he levies a tax at the rate thus ascertained. Bills are sent out from the tax commissioner's office, and payments are made to the state treasurer.

After the money has been collected, it becomes necessary for the tax commissioner to distribute it. He ascertains in the case of each corporation whether any of its stock is owned outside the commonwealth, and if such is the case he deducts a proportionate amount of its tax for the use of the commonwealth. The balance is distributed to the cities and towns. If a corporation has all of its property in a single city or town, all of the balance goes to that municipality; if, on the other hand, it has establishments in more than one city or town, the tax is divided among them in proportion to the local valuations of its property.

The total tax collected this year under the business corporation franchise law is $4,911,034.14, of which $887,573 is retained in the state treasury on account of stock owned outside the commonwealth. The balance, $4,023,454.53, goes to the various cities and towns. This amount is considerably larger than last year's figure, $3,642,753.31, chiefly because the rate of taxation, which this year is $19.14, is higher than ever before.

LOWELL PASTOR PREACHES ON CROOKS IN LOWELL

Hold Union Service

Preaching on "Crooks I've Met in Lowell This Year," Rev. William S. Jacobs, pastor of the Fifth Street Baptist church, Sunday evening, said Sunday evening that Lowell has a crooked civic conscience.

"There's a crook," he said, "in Lowell's civic life. Some citizens may say that it is the mayor; some may say that it is the chief of police; others the ward politicians, but I say that the crook in Lowell's civic life is the public conscience of our city."

"Lowell has a crooked civic conscience. Psychologists today tell us that conscience is the result of conduct; therefore the whole mental life of our city hinges upon its conduct. And the facts which I am to present are facts which any man may meet in reality as he walks through the streets of the city. What are some of the facts which prove that the civic conscience of Lowell is crooked?

"In the first place, there is the sum traffic of our city. There are 106 saloons in Lowell, and these are not properly regulated, a fact admitted by the mayor and by the chief of police.

"In the second place, we have proof that Lowell's public conscience is crooked because of the way in which people are seeking pleasure. What do I mean? I will read from several newspaper theatrical advertisements.

(The pastor then read from the advertisements of several Sunday and weekday programs, finishing with Charlie Chaplin.) May God help such a city as ours. Probably 500 men in Lowell seek pleasure in this way each week.

"In the third place, there is the matter of general Sunday observance. How does Lowell observe it? Theatres and stores are open. I know of stores in this city where almost any article of groceries imaginable may be purchased on Sunday. Let me take a census upon the matter of the people's attitude toward religion.

"There are 25,000 people in Centralville. Fifteen thousand of these probably are Roman Catholics, and they go to church. Ten thousand are Protestants, and not more than 700 go to church. This fact alone ought to prove that Lowell's civic conscience is crooked."

FAVOR CALENDAR YEAR BASIS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Substitution of the calendar year for the fiscal year in interstate railway accounting methods was urged before the interstate commerce commission at a hearing today of a committee of railway accounting officers. Approximately 5% per cent. of the railroads are said to have advocated the change in letters to the commission. It is said the calendar year basis will be much more convenient and would enable the roads to concentrate more attention to maintenance work during the summer.

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 13.—Alonzo Miller of 50 Parrish street was found by his wife hanging by a horse rein that had been fastened to one of the rafters in his barn yesterday afternoon. A step closer to the body showed that he had mounted to the top to the ridge beam about the timber and after slipping the leather noose down over his neck had jumped off. He was still living when found, but he died just before he reached the hospital.

Miller was 53 and was employed as a driver, and his suicide is a mystery.

The article in the October bulletin reads as follows:

Cases of anterior poliomyelitis continued to be reported from all parts of the state. The number for the month was 626, making a total of 1916 cases reported to the department since the 1st of January.

The peculiar distribution of cases noted last month still continues. In the Pittsfield-North Adams area the disease has come to a standstill in Adams and North Adams, while in Pittsfield there has been a gradual increase in cases, with a further center of infection developing in the neighboring town of Dalton. In the Greenfield-Montague area but 2 new cases were reported. No cases were reported from Dudley and Webster, while Worcester reported but seven cases.

At present there are two important areas of infection, one is in the Connecticut valley with Holyoke and Springfield as centers. In Westfield the number of cases are under ten years of age. This characteristic is one of the most constant features of the disease.

Any theory that will satisfactorily explain this infection must satisfactorily explain the constancy with which this age group of the population is attacked.

From the incomplete records received by this department, the anterior poliomyelitis fatality rate for September was higher than for August. There were 626 cases reported, with 133 deaths, giving a fatality rate of 21.3 as compared with the fatality rate of 15.2 for August. A more detailed analysis of these rates will be made when the final and complete figures are received from the secretary of state's office.

Any theory that will satisfactorily explain this infection must satisfactorily explain the constancy with which this age group of the population is attacked.
